NO FEAR BUT JUSTICE IS DECLARED FRENCH AIM

Seeks To Free Poles From Teuton Rule Says Revue

SEES DEEP AIM

Paper Hints That New Method Of War Is German Goal

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 21.—The Revue de Paris publishes an article showing once again that France's attitude on the Upper Silesian question was not dictated by fears for her security but by her desire for justice. The Revue dwells on the policy of conquest which Teutonism has followed indefatigably and keenly. It has often been said that Upper Silesia was a war arsenal, and it has even been asserted that without Upper Silesia Germany could not dream of further bellicose enterprises, and this consideration has an importance which is evident to all. It must not, however, be taken for granted that this is the argument which determines Germany's policy.

SILESIA'S BIG PART

Upper Silesia played an important part in the last war which it would, perhaps, not have done in other circumstances. In course of time, Germany may establish elsewhere some arsenal to take its place, although nothing is known of the conditions which would govern another war in the future. Who can be sure that another war would resemble the one which upset the world for four years, in being a war of artillery? Germany appears to be applying herself rather to the investigation of new inventions than to the reconstruction of older methods of warfare. The speeches of the Nationalist leaders, the Revue continues, must not be regarded as representing the inner thoughts of Germany. It is not likely, in the mind of those who carry most weight, that Germany is planning a war of revenge carried on with methods and conditions already known, and in which the Allies will for long retain an incontestable superiority. What is much more likely is that the leaders who are dreaming of the future are awaiting new discoveries.

WOULD FREE PEOPLE

The importance of Upper Silesia is real enough, but it is not the only motive which actuates the guiding minds in Germany. There is another which counts in a Germany still so little democratic and so submissive to its former masters, viz., that a weak and subjugated Poland is favorable to the employment of manual labor incapable of withstanding abuse. The wages in Upper Silesia are from 20 to 25 percent below those paid to the miners of Westphalia.

The people of Upper Silesia (concludes the Revue) were described by a German geographer in 1911 as living in hovels without cellars, and deprived of light, possessing a minimum of necessary comforts, and readily liable to disease. These people have been reduced, he said, to a sort of serfdom, wearing themselves out in order to pay their farm rents and in the service of the great estates. According to the same author, 26 percent of the region belongs to seven land-owners, and is under the domination of an industrial democracy combined with a landed aristocracy. Poland is in every way subjected to Prussia. It is a district where Teutonism has put all its tactics into operation.

REINFORCEMENTS SENT

Paris, August 20.—The papers express satisfaction that the Allies are acting in perfect harmony in regard to the sending of reinforcements to Upper Silesia. France is sending a brigade and Great Britain and Italy two battalions each.

League Not Confined To Approve Either View

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 20.—Viscount Ishii, Acting President of the League of Nations Council, has informed M. Briand, as President of the Supreme Council, that he has not yet been able to consult all his colleagues, but he hopes that all will be able to accept the invitation to attend the meeting of the League of Nations Council,

Two American Brides Held On Ship By Immigration Officials

New York, July 22.—Two wealthy American-born brides of well-known foreign business men were among the saloon passengers detained aboard the liner La Savoie when she arrived in New York under the provisions of the Immigration law. Orders came from Washington to release many of the first-cabin passengers, but several spent a second night aboard the liner. Mrs. Mutschle, who is the wife of a Cleveland photographer, was finally released, but Mrs. Teneau, whose husband is the vice-president of the Cartier jewelry firm, was held.

IMPOSES CAPITAL PUNISHMENT ON 8 ARMED ROBBERS

Inspector Prosser And Staff Are Commended In Mixed Court Order

Capital punishment of eight armed robbers rounded up in the International Settlement by Detective Inspector Prosser and his assistants were recommended yesterday by the Mixed Court before British Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Li. The accused were ordered to be handed over to the office of the Defense Commissioner to be shot.

These prisoners have been terrorising various parts of the settlement, succeeding in making several big hauls especially from exchange and pawn shops. Double dealing enable the police to effect the arrests. Most of them are Kompo men while one was an ex-Chapei police constable. A ninth man, charged with the offense, was released for lack of evidence.

The order of the Court was: "The charge has been withdrawn against the fourth accused. The other eight are to be sent to the Arsenal to be shot. If any are not shot, he (or they) to be returned to this court for punishment.

"The court is glad once more to put on record an expression of its high appreciation of the service rendered to the community by Detective Inspector Prosser and his staff, in rounding up the gangs of armed robbers in the settlement."

Scottish Court Frees 12 Accused Irishmen

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 20.—Twelve alleged Sinn Feiners have been acquitted at Edinburgh on charges of conspiracy to murder in connection with an attack on a prison van at Glasgow in May last, when a police inspector was shot dead and a detective wounded. At the conclusion of the trial one of the prisoners was rearrested in connection with an escape from prison at Manchester.

TRIPARTITE ALLIANCE CAN'T PASS SAYS PRESS

U.S. Papers Forecast Senate Opposition To Agreement

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 21.—The tone of the comment of Mr. Lloyd George's speech on the Anglo-Japanese alliance is favorable. It is pointed out, however, that there are domestic and political pitfalls to a formal tripartite alliance, which suggests treaties. Consequently such an alliance would be opposed by the Senate, as was the Versailles Treaty. The opinion is expressed that the problem is one of ways and means of reaching the desired "understanding" with Great Britain and Japan.

Premier's Speech Has Answering Chord In U.S.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, August 20.—The New York World in an editorial commenting on Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons on Thursday, expresses the opinion that the Premier's straightforward statement on the subject of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance should go far towards clearing the air. The Premier's policy, it points out, does not mean the isolation of Japan, and is in no way inimical to the best interests of the United States.

The Tribune declares that "The British Premier does not conceal an eager desire for an alliance with America, wherein no doubt he is expressing the unanimous thought of his countrymen." It recalls Jefferson's sentiment that an Anglo-American alliance would contribute more than anything to national safety, the world's peace and the triumph of Liberal ideas.

The Times emphasises all the points in the discussions connected with disarmament in regard to which Mr. Lloyd George is of the same opinion as Secretary of State Hughes.

Uchida Says Agenda Is Vital To Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 20.—Viscount Uchida in a statement to the press regarding the Washington Conference says:

"Post bellum complications and international relations render advisable a conference for the discussion of Pacific and Far Eastern questions in connection with armament limitation. The necessary negotiations as regards the nature of the subjects for discussion at the Conference will be maintained through the diplomatic organs of the Japanese and Washington Governments. The American authorities have been made to realise how important it is for Japan to be acquainted with the agenda before the Conference is held.

"Prudence forbids the publication of concrete Japanese policies on particular subjects for discussion, but this I can assure you—that the Japanese Government is determined to do its utmost to attain a general peace. More so than the Peace Conference, the Washington Conference is of vital importance to Japan, and the Japanese should pay the greatest attention to its developments."

Professors To Study Japan's Proper Policy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 18.—Under the auspices of seven University professors, namely Messrs. Nitta, Tomizu, Tatebe, Soyeda, Nakamura, Matsunami and Terao, a public association is being organised for the study of the policy which Japan ought to adopt at the Pacific Convention.

Dr. Nitta, in the course of an interview, says: "This is the time for Japan to introduce a marked modification in her policy towards

Two Steamers Are Aground At Mouth Of Yangtsze With Another Typhoon Nearing

French Liner Cordillere And Blue Funnel Ship Glaucus Held Fast On Tungsha Spit—Lighters And Tugs To Rescue

Two incoming steamers are aground on the Tungsha Spit, just ten miles in from the pilot station in the mouth of the Yangtsze, and are menaced by another fast traveling typhoon now reported in the vicinity of the Loochoos.

The vessels are the steamer Cordillere of the Messageries Maritimes, and the steamer Glaucus, of the Blue Funnel line, out from Liverpool. According to the wireless reports both steamers nosed into the soft mud about the same time, 1 a.m. yesterday, and are lying near each other, the Cordillere with her bow into the bar, and the Glaucus parallel to the stream.

TUGS TO RESCUE

Tugs were sent to the assistance of the two vessels at 11 a.m. yesterday, lighters to unload the cargoes, and a tender to bring the thirty-odd passengers from the Cordillere, and the French mail. At a late hour last night news was received by the Messageries Co. that the tender could not go alongside the Cordillere until high tide at midnight. It is expected the passengers and mail will arrive in Shanghai this morning.

The Cordillere draws only 22 feet, and has a very light cargo which is to be transferred when the tide permits. The tender Alexandra is standing by.

Butterfield and Swire, agents for the Blue Funnel line, had received no message up to last night save the call for tugs. It is understood the Glaucus is in a bad position astride the bar, and as her draught is 24 feet some difficulty is expected in getting her out to deep water.

Shanghai shipping men are speculating upon the possible fate of the two vessels should the typhoon reach the Yangtsze mouth before they are refloated. Mariners from ships which weathered the China sea during the passage of the typhoon on Saturday tell of tremendous waves and a running sea. A storm like that of Saturday would mean the wreck, if not the total loss, of the two vessels on the bar.

The new typhoon, which is sailing in the wake of the one just passed, was reported Sunday to be at latitude 22. Yesterday weather reported showed it had advanced three degrees of latitude, or more than 200 miles.

AMERICANS HERE PLAN TO GREET NEW MINISTER

Mr. Schurman, Mrs. Schurman And Two Daughters Arrive On Nanking Tomorrow

Extensive preparations are being made by American officialdom here and also by the Chinese authorities to give a welcome tomorrow to Mr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the newly appointed United States Minister, who will arrive on the China Mail liner Nanking and will succeed Mr. Charles R. Crane. Mr. Schurman is accompanied by Mrs. Schurman and their two daughters and it is expected that the Minister will remain in Shanghai until Saturday. While here he will be the guest of Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham, American Consul-General at the Consulate.

On the arrival of the Nanking tomorrow morning at the China Merchants' Lower wharf a reception committee headed by Mr. Cunningham and composed of American officials and others will extend greeting to Mr. Schurman. A program of arrangements which is being prepared to honor the new Minister will not be completed for announcement until today. One affair, however, will be a dinner in his honor which the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Association will give Friday at the Carlton Cafe.

Mr. V. G. Lyman, chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the dinner at the Carlton when the Minister hmiself is expected to speak. There will be music and dancing.

The Local Street Unions have passed a resolution favoring the hoisting of the Chinese national flag on the day of his arrival. A Chinese committee from the unions will also go to the wharf to greet the new Minister.

Paris, August 20.—King Alexander of Serbia is staying at the Hotel Continental in Paris. He is not in a nursing home and has not been operated upon, as had been reported.

RIOTING STUDENTS MUST NOW SERVE FULL JAIL TERM

Application For Rehearing Of Case In Mixed Court Is Refused

Application for the rehearing of the case against a number of Chinese students, one of whom fired at a boy scout while the latter attempted to stop him from distributing Bolshevik literature during the Far Eastern Olympic Games, was refused yesterday in the Mixed Court. The boy with the pistol must now serve his full term of ten years' imprisonment.

The application was made on behalf of the prisoners by Mr. P. M. Linebarger, who stated that they were merely students and had mistakenly posed as martyrs or acted as such, and was opposed by Mr. Langley Smith on behalf of the police.

The Court in giving its decision stated that it could not accede to the application which had been made by counsel, as they did not feel that the defendants had been too harshly dealt with. Had the offense taken outside of the Settlement they would have been more severely punished. The youth who had been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment would be released if he conducted himself properly in seven and a half years.

French Commerce Shows Big Losses

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 20.—The total imports of France for the first seven months of the current year are valued at francs 11,876,500,000 as compared with francs 30,243,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1921, representing a decrease of francs 18,366,500,000.

Exports, which amounted to nearly francs 12,363,000,000 in 1920 shrank to francs 2,000,000,000 in the first seven months of this year.

The Temps remarks that prices show a sharp drop since last year, for which reason the Customs authorities have applied the assessment rate of 1919 and not that of 1920.

New Gliding Boat Has 50-Mile Speed

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 19.—The Journal of Commerce announces that satisfactory trials have been completed on the River Saone in France with a new type of water glider, fitted with a six-cylinder motor, which has been ordered by the Chinese Government for the conveyance of merchandise and passengers on the great rivers. The makers claim that in favorable conditions the machine is capable of exceeding 50 miles an hour when carrying 12 passengers.

Caravan Cook Can Cast Scheherazade Into Discard

By Bruce Hopper

WHAT the galley cook is to sailors in the fo' castle, and the buckeroo cook to cowboys in the round-up camps, the caravan cook is to the traveler, the mafoos, and the villagers in western China. All three are marvelous entertainers with funds of gossip, metephorical profanity, amusing humbug, and wildly picturesque mendacity.

Carlyle accounted for peculiarities in different types by the effect upon their psychology by the clothes they wear, but no one has explained the propensity to loquacity and good-humored untruth which characterises traveling culinary artists.

The cowboy cook is a greater attraction at a round-up than dogging the bull, or spinning the rope. His repertoire changes each season, new verses to "Johnnie and Frankie," and other prairie ballads, new unlexiconish names for articles of diet, such as punk for bread, gravel for sugar, and slumgullion for coffee, and untold tales of the wonders he has seen which would make a Baron Munchausen blush for shame. As a purveyor of unadulterate blasphemy the round-up cook acknowledges no superior. And his be-chapped and be-spurred audience cry him on to imaginative flights unmentionable.

TELLS TALL TALES

The caravan cook is likewise chief jester and Indian medicine man wherever he goes. He is omniscient, and knows everybody from Thibet to Chungking. At every turn in the road he can relate some remarkable adventure which befell him at that point some years before. He is never definite about the number of dead, nor the eventual fate of those captured by the brigands, but it is always "many, many."

With intimate knowledge about the trails the caravan cook is looked upon as an oracle. He is called upon to identify the flags on the leading mule of an approaching caravan, to name the transportation company owning the outfit and give details about the character of the chief mafoo. This he always seems able to do, whether by actual information, or carefully organised hypocrisy.

He is somewhat of a bully and commits high-handed outrages, such as theft of chicken and fuel wood, using the name of his master as an excuse:

"Ah, do you not see? I am master of viands for the son of the King of Europe. We have traveled far, and many strange people and cities have we seen. I will tell you all, but first I must have a fire, and some one to pluck this chicken....." Following there is a report from the cook to the wondering villagers of the far lands of romance, of great ships as big as mountains, of men with hair all over their bodies, and like marvels. The route he describes with the fidelity of a dictophone, and always finishes with the statement that his master is enroute to Peking with costly presents for the emperor, who is still ruling according to his tale.

RUNS NEWS AGENCY

A very useful service performed by the caravan cook is carrying news to the remote sections of the country. His memory is retentive, as it should be for consistent lying, and he brings a bone of information to one village, but takes away two to peddle to the next. Around simple occurences he weaves the glories of romantic events, all the embroidery and gold lace of the Arabian Nights. A mule falling off the cliff will furnish him descriptive material for a whole evening's entertainment, and a brush with the brigands, or with the near-brigands who fly the provincial flag at the toll stations, takes on the proportions of a terrible war.

When pushed for topics he amuses his clients with anecdotes on the foreigner, how thick-witted he is, what a Simple Simon! The traveler feels himself to the focus of dotted-lines from the eyes of the villagers, they laugh uproariously, the cook is speaking, and there can be no doubt of the subject. The cook gathers prestige not only by his service with the foreigner, but by proving he can successfully pull the wool on his master.

SAVES TIN CANS

The caravan cook generally is a confirmed opium smoker. He eats but little, although allowed thirty cents a day for food, over his pay of eight to ten dollars a month. His cumsha on the road consists of all the empty tin cans, which he hoards until the cook basket sounds like a jingling junk shop. The traveler makes an inventory at intervals; and issues the cook an ultimatum that the cans must be disposed of at the next town. Whereupon there is pleading and much lip-homage to the end that he be allowed to retain the cans until a town is reached where opium is cheap. For one milk tin he can get enough opium for several night's supply of opium.

And thus is the caravan cook a gaunt individual with a lean, hungry look, like Cassius, but not so dangerous. He is versatile and clever, he badgers everybody, and yet is the most popular person in western China. He seldom deviates into truth, but his spicey tales find pardon in the amusement they bring. Give him enough opium, and an audience, and he is happier than a bluebird.

TWO WEEKS TO END WAR IS ALL WU REQUIRES

Such Is His Aim He Tells China Press Correspondent

UNIFY LATER

First Bring Wayward Hunan Back Then Consider Govt,

BY JAMES L. BUTTS
(Staff Correspondent for The China Press)

Hankow, Aug. 21 (1:35 p.m.). —To settle the Hupeh-Hunan situation within two weeks is the ambition of General Wu Pei-fu, which he expressed in an interview with me at midnight Saturday when he returned from the fighting front for a brief conference with military officers in Hankow.

General Wu expressed satisfaction with the progress made in his military operations and said that he expected no further difficulties after a fortnight, by the end of which period he hoped to rid Hupeh of all insurgents and to occupy Yochow.

Both wings of his army are advancing unchecked while his forces in the center are encircling the Hunanese near Tingshihchow.

The General's present policy is confined to the settlement of the Liang-hu conflict, working at the same time on the unification program for the Yangtsze Provinces and later, perhaps, for all China. He is still keeping in mind the declaration he made last year after the fall of the Anfuites, in which he advocated the calling of a National Citizens' Convention for the drafting of a Constitution and the settlement of other problems and believes that, if possible, the convention should precede the Pacific Conference in view of the latter's importance.

Coming to the question of self-government, General Wu told me that it must come step by step. In this respect, he said, Hunan was but a wayward child and as such it cannot consistently claim the right of self-government.

Referring to Dr. Sun Yat-sen's proposed march of 74,000 soldiers to Hupeh, General Wu said: "Sun Yat-sen's plan to converge his troops on the Wuhan Cities is an ambitious one. But he must remember that Wu is here."

General Wu denied the report of a split between his former Chief, Tsao Kun, and the Mukden Inspector-General, Chang Tso-lin, and attributed the talk to Southern propaganda. While he has assumed the role of Inspector-General of Hupeh and Hunan, Wu intimated that he would hesitate in taking the title in view of the fact that Hunan is still recalcitrant.

The head of the Chihli army in Hupeh returned to the front at daybreak this morning.

The attack on Changsha by Northern troops has been officially denied.

Wu Advancing And Is Now Nearing Yochow

Hankow, August 21.—Reports state that General Wu Pei-fu is steadily advancing and is at present very close to Yochow. Cargo deliveries from the Provinces are very difficult to obtain.

Szechuen Troops Are Now Close To Ichang

Hankow, August 21.—Szechuen troops are close to Ichang. Native reports that the town has been captured are not confirmed.

Red Ensign Fails To Stop Firing At Ship

Hankow, August 21.—The Indo-China steamer Changwo, flying a very large red ensign, was heavily fired on below Singti from the north bank. A Chinaman was killed and some Chinese were wounded, while the hull was pierced.

The Siantan was also fired on, but no damage was done.

Kuomingtang Men In Exodus To War Zones

Canton, August 16.—An exodus of Kuomintang, or Nationalist Party, members is taking place from Canton, their destination being Kwangsi, Hunan, Hupeh and Chekiang, where, it is said, important political developments have taken, or will take, place. Unemployed politicians have been flocking around the Cantonese Army headquarters and the new Kwangsi Governor for some time.

General Hsu Shao-ching—a Cantonese, and chief military attache to Sun Yat-sen, who is now conferring with General Lu Yung-hsiang at Hangchow on national issues—has taken only a few supporters with him. Some of them are going on to Shanghai apparently in order to co-operate with him and others in some new movement.

The Cantonese leaders are opposed to the "Third Government" idea, that is, they do not look with favor upon the calling of a national convention in Hankow or Changsha for the formation of a Federal Government among the several provinces which are now independent of Peking.

In the meantime the Government in Canton is preparing for the expedition against Peking through Hankow and by water at least this report is being persistently circulated by the authorities here.

The Echo de Paris points out that the task of the League of Nations Council will not be confined to pronouncing in favor of either the French or British views on the Upper Silesian question, but that it will be quite unhampered in arriving at its conclusion.

London, August 20.—It is announced that Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, will attend the League of Nations Assembly.

Ishii Says No String Is Tied To Council

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, August 21.—Replying to the Supreme Council's invitation to the Council of the League of Nations with reference to Upper Silesia, Viscount Ishii notes that the affair was referred to the Council without reservation or restriction. Accordingly, he says, the Council reserves absolute freedom to deal with it in any manner it regards as most efficacious. Viscount Ishii adds that he is confident the Governments represented on the Council will do nothing to prejudice an impartial examination of this matter.

Shipping Board Loss And Waste 'Unspeakable'

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 20.—A further law has just been passed in France, stipulating that the French state fleet of cargo steamers must be sold by July 21, 1923. "It is evident (remarks Messrs. Donald Macleod and Co.'s report) that private owners will have to face serious competition in the next few years, for the huge fleet of the American Shipping Board has not yet been disposed of."

Washington, August 21.—The chairman of the United States Shipping Board predicts that Congress will be asked to appropriate $300,000,000 to meet the claims inherited from the previous Government in connection with the Shipping Board. President Harding has appealed for the closest co-operation of the Legislature with the Executive's effort to reduce "the unspeakable losses and wastes" in this matter.

SULU CHIEFS BEG U.S. TO HOLD THE PHILIPPINES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Jolo, P.I., August 20.—The Wood-Forbes mission has virtually completed its investigation and is returning to Manila via British Borneo on September 3. General Wood will possibly revisit Mindanao in order to investigate the killing of six Moros by constabulary, which affair is alleged to account for complaints made by the Moros.

Nearly 200 Mohammedan chiefs in Sulu signed a petition urging the retention of the Islands by America, and the ousting of all Filipino officials from the Southern Philippines.

General Wood refuses to indicate whether he will accept the Governorship, as it would mean retirement from the Army.

TOKONAMI URGES CO-OPERATION IN LABOR DISPUTES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 17.—In an instruction circulated by Mr. Tokonami, Minister of the Interior, to all the prefectural governors in connection with the recent disputes in the Kwansai district, especially those in Kobe, the need is emphasised for mutual co-operation between the capitalists and workmen.

The instruction adds that although the Government has adopted a non-intervention policy toward the labor disputes in the Kwansai district, the Minister of the Interior finally ordered strict control over any unlawful movements on the part of the workmen, as acts of violence could not be overlooked.

"Though the labor disbutes today are misled by the participation of some agitators, who are checking the real intention of the workmen, it cannot be said that the disputes are the result of the incitement of a small number. The capitalists should be urged to establish willingly some institutions to give the workmen comfort and prosperity.

"At the same time they should endeavor to understand the real intention and tendency of the workmen. On the other hand, the workmen should review the current financial condition, and realise their responsibility to maintain discipline and to refrain from submitting impracticable demands.

"The Minister is confident that mutual co-operation between the capitalists and the workmen is essential to the settlement of disputes. For this purpose all the suspicions and misunderstandings between both sides should be removed by frank discussion."

ALLIES MAY GET 5 YEARS STAY IN PAYING U.S. DEBT

Administration Bill For Its Refunding Favorably Considered

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 20.—The Administration bill providing for the funding of the Allied debt has been favorably reported on by the Finance Committee, the majority of whom have added an amendment requiring the completion of the funding within five years.

The report endorsed the Administration's view that the Secretary of the Treasury be given wide powers in the funding operations, and recognises an obligation on the part of the United States to postpone payment of interest for two or three years—of which two have elapsed—where the principal foreign governments have received advances from the proceeds of the sale of Liberty Bonds.

Report English Group Has Leased Petrograd

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 19.—Messrs. Donald Macleod and Co.'s weekly report says: "It is reported that an English financial group has secured a long lease from the Soviet authorities of the port of Petrograd. If this project is carried out, it should prove of great value to the shipping of all nations."

Berlin, August 20.—A Russian newspaper published here says it learns from a trustworthy source that negotiations are proceeding between British, American and German capitalists on the one hand, and the Soviet on the other, regarding a forty years' concession for the reconstruction of Petrograd and Odessa. The concession would comprise an extension and development of the harbors, a reconstruction of the drainage systems, the establishment of electric trams and the equipment of factories.

Representatives of the principals will meet on August 26 at Berlin finally to settle the agreement, adds the newspaper.

American Press Sees Pitfalls In Triple Alliance

China. Japan's China policy has so far been designed for the benefit of this country alone."

China's Interest Is In Topics And Delegation

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking (by mail).—Interest in the forthcoming Pacific Conference at Washington, so far as China is concerned, is confined almost entirely to two questions, viz., the subjects likely to be discussed and the personnel of China's delegation.

The Government leaders do not expect that the Conference will attempt to find an immediate solution for questions such as the Shantung issue, but they do look for the adoption of definite principles in connection with such matters, leaving for the future only details for arrangement between the parties most intimately concerned. At the same time, the contention is frequently heard in Peking, both in foreign and Chinese circles, that if the Conference is to lead to a result that can have a material effect upon the primary question of naval disarmament, the agenda should include all matters outstanding between China and the foreign Powers, particularly those in which China's sovereignty is at stake.

UNSETTLED QUESTIONS

Foreigners point out that China is being invited to participate in the Conference, not because of her direct influence one way or the other, but owing to the fact that unsettled questions concerning her territorial integrity and the right of equal opportunity for all other nationals in China are potential causes of war between other Powers—anyhow, calculated to maintain international tention and, therefore, to exercise an influence against disarmament. Questions relating to China cannot be decided without her co-operation, it is argued, and as the settlement of questions of international interest is usually a matter of give and take, even in the settlement of principles, the progress of the negotiations will be greatly expedited by the presence at the Conference of a Chinese Delegation possessing powers equal to those of other countries.

CHINESE VIEWPOINT

From the Chinese point of view, the Chinese delegation will be able to take part in discussions, raise objections where Chinese interests might suffer if the Chinese point of view were not made known, and act generally as counsel for the country more vitally interested in the issue than any other, with the exception of Japan. The question of personnel, therefore, is of real importance. The Chinese representative, it is felt, should have fluent knowledge of the language used at the Conference, which is practically certain to be English; and the head of the delegation should be an official of high rank and wide knowledge of international affairs, a keen debater and a man of striking personality. These qualifications have been freely accepted among the Chinese as a sine qua non.

There are three parties at work to bring about the nomination of their candidate. Two of them are pushing forward former officials of high degree with but little knowledge of any foreign language, who would be entirely in the hands of their interpreters, while the time spent in interpretation for them would be irksome to other great men who will be there.

It is not yet known whether Dr. W. W. Yen will accept the post of head of the Chinese delegation. He represents no party in Peking, but his selection would probably meet with the approval of all patriotic Chinese.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 22.—Japanese experts visited Pulham aerodrome and inspected the British airship R-37 which is believed to have been left unfinished in view of the suspension of the Government's air program, it being understood that experts agree that these giant heavier-than-air machines are not fitted for war purposes. It is stated that 16 English non-rigid machines of the "SSZ" type, 180 feet in length, and capable of a sustained flight at 30 miles an hour, have been purchased and sent to Japan.

Tang Willing To Go But Not For Peking

Mr. Tang Shao-yi, former Premier, has consented to represent the South at the coming Pacific Conference, according to a Canton telegram. He will not accept any appointment from Peking, which, it is understood, will welcome any nominee whom the South wishes to appoint to serve on the China delegation.

Reservations for 80 first class and 10 second class passengers have been made by the Peking Ministry of Foreign Affairs on a steamer sailing in the middle of October, it is announced.

A Presidential Mandate has been issued appointing Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs, head of the Bureau for the Organisation of a Chinese Delegation to the Pacific Conference.

Indication that Japanese are once more active in propaganda work in Peking was shown when two memoranda on Pacific questions were filed by Tsao Ju-lin and Lu Chung-yu, two of the "Three Pro-Japanese Traitors" notorious during the students' strike. Tsao's essay elucidated the question of racial equality, which was brought up by the Japanese delegation at Versailles and subsequently defeated, while Lu urged direct negotiations over the Shantung question, which the Chinese, as a people, deplore.

PRINCE TO SHOW THE FRIENDSHIP OF BRITISH TO JAPAN

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 20.—The Times, in referring to the projected visit of the Prince of Wales to Japan, which is now definitely announced, dwells on the value of His Royal Highness's presence there, which, it says, will demonstrate the warmth of British friendship towards Japan.

It does not doubt that "the Prince will be able to interpret our desire that this friendship, which has tried and proved during the war, shall be even more productive of happy results in the work of peace, in which we are about to co-operate with our American kinsmen.

Chinese Recorder

"The meaning and significance of the Christian Movement in China is being sought as never before," says the opening sentence of an article of Dr. Frank Rawlinson on "The Approach to the Christian Message to China," and very hearty thanks should be given him for a careful and original study of this great problem. It is a fact that more people than ever before are seeking to know the meaning of the movement of Christianity in China, and the result in recent months has been not a little confused. Many men of many minds have printed their thoughts on the subject and it is a rare thing to find them agreeing with each other. One of the causes for special gratitude for this study of Dr. Rawlinson's is the fact that it seeks very definitely to unite Christian thought on a single definite object. The necessary limits of such an article preclude detailed treatment, but at least we have a complete outline, clearly stated. The temptation to quote is strong, but we give here a single paragraph, in the hope that it will tempt all who have not read the whole to do so. After noting divergences in the thought of Christians on this important problem, the writer says: "The Christian Message to China (1) must be along the lines of Christ's own announced purpose to Give Life. (2) Must recognise as it is evident Christ did, that personality is the summit of life, and hence of supreme importance. (3) Teaches that Christ embodies this life in fullest measure. (4) That the life so embodied is the life of God and hence final as regards character and personality. (5) Calls for a complete expression of this life in (a) Love to God, and (b) Love to man."

An exposition of the doctrine of the atonement, in its special application to a "World in Revolution" is provided by the Rev. R. B. Whitaker. The treatment is largely devotional and expositional, and the language is most eloquent. Dr. Griffith Thomas writes on "Unity," a topic that affords opportunity for his well-known method of treatment, learned, succint, penetrating.

Of the remaining articles, most of them brief, the most striking is by Miss Rachel Brooks, of the Y.W.C.A., who has been one year in China as a language student, and who sets down her impressions of Chinese architecture, of students, and of missionaries. Her criticisms are most frank; "among the missionaries," she says, "I feel remote and isolated from Chinese life." There is doubtless some room for this feeling, but we believe that much of it will fade away when Miss Brooks has been here a few years, and knows both missionaries and Chinese better. "The strong idealistic currents in modern China, such as those of the Renaissance, are outside of the Christian community." Of course they are, and for a very good reason. Ninety-nine Christians out of a hundred are not of the "mighty" or "noble"; they have to be concerned more over the next meal than over idealism. As for the hundredth does Miss Brooks read Dr. Timothy T. Lew's paper, "The Life?" But in spite of our difference, we welcome her statement most heartily.

WOULD HELP PEASANTS

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow (by mail), July 25.—ublic attention here is focused on the problem of helping the arving peasants in the drought-icken Volga provinces. All the litical, industrial and peasants' ganisations are straining every fort to provide quick relief.

The supreme council of public onomy has resolved to help the fferers by the development of all trade and industry in the mine provinces, giving them eference in the supply of raw aterials, etc.

The special famine commission the All-Russian central executive committee has appealed to the ecutives of all the provincial viets immediately to collect data d report on the amount of seeds hich the respective provinces can pare for the famine provinces for e coming plowing and also to port upon the opportunities for mployment offered to the Volga asants in the more prosperous ovinces.

The All-Russian conference of ontrosoyous (co-operative) ents opened in Moscow. Chairan Khinichuk read to the delees the following letter from ain on the task of the co-erators:

"I am confident that your past perience will help you to solve ur problems in accordance with the general plan for the reconstruction of the country.

"The success of our impending practical work will largely depend on correctly defined relations in commodity exchange between the urban industries and agriculture, on the ability of the co-operators, by a consistent and firm campaign, to develop commodity exchange and occupy the first place therein and on your ability to collect the scattered products and promote production. The practical solution of these problems is the best means for achieving our ultimate aim—the reconstruction of agriculture and, upon its foundation, the reinvigoration of scale large industry."

The Volhynian economic council, carrying out the new economic policy, has leased numerous minor industrial enterprises to co-operators and individuals.

Some local rainfalls improved the summer crops in the Tsaritsin province. The winter crops of the Tartar republic are totally lost on account of the severe drought. The summer crops will yield a half harvest.

Foreigners Who Rushed To Aid France Honored

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 21.—A touching ceremony was enacted this morning at the Hotel des Invalides in commemoration of the anniversary of the day in 1914 when 50,000 foreign residents in France offered their services to the French Army. Their survivors assembled today with their flags in the presence of members of the diplomatic corps and representatives of the Government, the military and civil authorities and the Academie Francaise. M. Doumic, an Academician, delivered an appropriate address, in which he recalled the spontaneity of their enrolment. They took part, he said, in all the most sanguinary engagements, and 11,000 of them had given up their lives.

SIPYLO TAKEN BY CHINESE; BUT CHITA STILL SAFE

Reuter Explains Alarmist News; Dalta Shows Japanese Animus

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, August 21.—News has been received that the infamous Colonel Sipylo, who was Ungern's "Chief of Gendarmery" and terrorised the city of Urga to amass a fortune in loot, has been arrested on the Chinese Eastern Railway, and has been brought to Hailar by the Chinese military authorities.

The press at Vladivostok are of the opinion that the Merkuloff government is unable to accomplish anything. Even the reactionary groups express their disappointment with the Merkuloff coup, and are giving up the idea of creating an independent buffer state in the Maritime Province.

Numerous false reports of uprisings in Russia, Siberia, and Transbaikalia, issued by Yapta (Japanese Telegraph Agency) and transmitted broadcast by Reuter are believed to have originated in Japanese official circles at Vladivostok.

Complete Denial Of Report On Chita

(Reuter's Service)

Vladivostok, August 21.—Definite information which has now been received there shows that nothing has occurred at Chita beyond an interruption of communications, owing to floods on the railway, although minor risings are occasionally occurring in Baikalia.

The above item is a complete denial of a despatch carried by Reuter's Agency under date of August 12 in which it was stated that an "unconfirmed rumor" had reached Vladivostok that the Reds had been driven out of Chita, that the head of the Chita Government had fled by aeroplane and that many communists had been burned alive "when Chita was captured."

3,000 HONOR THE BIRTHDAY OF TUCHUN'S SIRE

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, August 21.—The celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the birth of Mr. Chi Mengfang, father of Chi Sih-yuen, Tuchun of Kiangsu, held yesterday at the Tuchun's yamen, in spite of rain was attended by three thousand people. The honored Chinese guests included Hon. Li Chiao-t'ai, representing President Hsu Shu-chang; Hon. Chang Chi-yuen, representing the Cabinet at Peking; Mr. Wang Hu, civil governor of Kiangsu; Mr. Cheo Ling-cho, representative of Tuchun Lu Yung-siang of Chekiang; Mr. Kiang Ko-ching, representative of the Fukien Tuchun. Guests representing the foreign community here are: Mr. Jamieson, acting British Consul; Mr. W. B. Smith, American vice-Consul; Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Bowen, Prof. Harry Clemons, of the University of Nanking; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Gillett; and the Japanese Consul with his staff.

The walls of the main halls were beautifully covered up with six hundred elaborate scrolls of greetings and congratulations presented by the guests. The Chinese guests were all dressed in blue gowns and black jackets to show proper color suitable for the occasion. Messrs. Koh, Sie, and Wang, ushers-in-chief, led the guests to the celebration hall where the Tuchun dressed in military uniform and his wife were standing to receive congratulations. The guests gave three bows to the Tuchun and his wife. Responsively the tuchun and his wife gave three bows.

Coming out from the celebration hall, the guests were taken into the theater where the Tientsin actors were staging. Nineteen plays were performed yesterday. Opposite the stage were the seats for ladies. The honored guests sat on the platforms on the two sides of the theater. The guests representing other organisations were all seated in the middle of the theater. All the guests were entertained: men at the West Hall, ladies at the Pehfancheo Hall.

The celebration will end tomorrow. The expenditure for the celebration amounted to $50,000.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BABY CANNOT SLEEP.

The baby that cries half the night does not cry for fun. It cries because it is not well. Almost all infantile ailments, including the pains of teething arise in the first place from stomach and bowel troubles. To induce sleep in a natural way, therefore, all that is necessary is set these troubles right, for which purpose Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, have been specially devised.

The first effect of the Tablets is to act gently and kindly on the bowels. Then they soothe the stomach, allay teething pains, and promote calm natural sleep, the baby waking up thoroughly rested and ready for its meal. In most cases the rapidity with which their good effects become apparent seems almost magical.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain not the minutest trace of any opiate, narcotic, or other harmful drug. They are equally harmless and helpful to the youngest infant as to the child of 6 or 8 years, and are a proved remedy for infantile constipation, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever, colds and worms.

MUTT AND JEFF BELONG ONLY TO THEIR CREATOR

Cartoonist Fisher's Contention As To Property Rights Sustained By Courts

Albany, N.Y., July 23.—The Court of Appeals of the State of New York today handed down a decision which sustains in all respects the rights of the artist Bud Fisher to exclusive ownership of the well-known "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons. This is an important decision to all publishers and artists because it finally determines the mooted question of property rights in original drawings and makes new law.

Litigation over "Mutt and Jeff" has been going on both in the United States and in England for several years. The great popularity of the two famous characters, Mutt and Jeff, has caused a number of other artists and newspapers both in the United States and Europe to try to imitate them. Some time ago the High Court of Justice of England decided that the right to draw and publish "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons belongs exclusively to Mr. Fisher.

Now the highest court of the State of New York has reached the same conclusion.

The opinion in the case decided today was written by Judge Chase, who died before the case was decided, but the court adopted it as the opinion of the court.

Judge Chase's opinion is in part as follows:

"It appears from the findings of fact that the grotesque figures in Mr. Fisher's cartoons, as well as the names 'Mutt' and 'Jeff' applied to them have in consequence of the way in which they have been exploited by Mr. Fisher and the appearance and assumed characters of the imaginary figures have been maintained, acquired a meaning apart from their primary meaning, which is known as a secondary meaning. The secondary meaning that is applicable to the figures and the names is that Mr. Fisher originated them and that his genius pervades all that they appear to do or say.

"It also appears from the findings of fact that Mr. Fisher is the owner of the property right existing in the characters represented in such figures and names. They are of his creation.....

".....The figures and names have been so connected with Mr. Fisher as their originator or author, that the use by another of new cartoons exploiting the characters 'Mutt and Jeff' would be unfair to the public and to the plaintiff. No person should be permitted to pass off as his own the thoughts and works of another.

"The only purpose that another than Mr. Fisher can have in using the figures or names of 'Mutt' and 'Jeff' is to appropriate the financial value that such figures and names have acquired by reason of the skill of Mr. Fisher."

Mr. Charles E. Kelley, of the firm of Kelley and Becker, attorneys for Mr. Fisher, who conducted the case since its inception through all its ramifications, said today:

"This decision is very gratifying to both Mr. Fisher and myself. The Court sustains the contention that we have made consistently for the last six years, during all of which time 'Mutt and Jeff' have been under attack from various quarters. It is now finally decided both in England and America that no other person or corporation has the right to draw or publish Mr. Fisher's 'Mutt and Jeff' cartoons or use the famous characters in any way without Mr. Fisher's consent."

Cardinal Sees Two Priests Rescue A Drowning Girl

Mgr. Dougherty's Motor Party Stops In Fairmount Park While Fathers Whitaker And Caruana Drag Heat Victim Out Of River

Philadelphia, July 9.—Two priests who were escorting Cardinal Dougherty on a motor trip through Fairmount Park this afternoon jumped in the Schuylkill River and saved a girl from drowning, while the Cardinal stood on the bank ready to give assistance.

The priests were the Rev. Joseph A. Whitaker, chancellor of the archdiocese, and the Rev. George Caruana, secretary to Cardinal Dougherty. The girl is Ellen Thornton, 20. She was taken to the Woman's Homoeopathic Hospital, where she was revived and is expected to recover.

Others in the Cardinal's party were Mgr. Patrick Supplee of Boston, the Rev. James O. Patterson of the faculty of St. Charles's Seminary, Overbrook, and the Rev. Joseph McCullough, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, Mount Airy.

The girl disappeared from her place of employment yesterday afternoon as the result, it is believed, of heat prostration which she suffered a week ago.

Cardinal Dougherty was on his way home when he heard the cries of persons who saw the girl fall into the river. The car was stopped along the river drive above Columbia avenue bridge. Seeing the girl struggling in the water, Father Whitaker and Father Caruana jumped out of the automobile and ran to the bank, throwing off their hats and coats on the way. They jumped into the water, but found it shallow and muddy. Both could swim, but they were forced to wade to where the girl was seen to go under the water.

While they were wading to the side of the girl Cardinal Dougherty, who had alighted from the automobile, hurried down to the embankment and watched the rescue. By the time the two priests reached shore with the unconscious girl several park guards had reached the spot. The priests handed the girl to the guards and they gave her first aid treatment.

Mexican Court To Hold Open Session Upon Oil Injunction

(Reuter's Service)

Mexico City, August 21.—Importance is attached to the decision of the Supreme Court to hold public hearings, beginning on Tuesday, of the long-standing injunction against the Government by foreign oil interests, whose properties were denounced because they failed to obey Ex-President Carranza's decree, ordering the companies to disclose their holdings.

FORESIGHT

In 1918 a group of American banking institutions headed by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York conceived the idea of establishing an American bank for furthering the interests of American firms in their commercial relations with the Far East.

Headed by Mr. Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, the Asia Banking Corporation was accordingly organized and established at 35 Broadway. The authorized capital of G.$4,000,000 was practically all subscribed by seven well-known American banks and the directorate for the most part was formed of officers of these institutions.

The Shanghai branch as head office for the Far East was opened February 7, 1919, and its other nine branches established in rapid succession.

The large possibilities of trade between China and the United States was foreseen, and the vision of these men has proven a reality.

Since 1918 China's direct trade with the United States has increased Hk. Tls. 74,499,184, representing an increase of 54%.

Even more encouraging are the prospects of future trade development to follow upon the commercial readjustments of the past year. Adequate credit and commercial machinery are the only restrictions on the size of this trade.

TSINGTAU NINE DUE TODAY; 4-GAME SERIES COMMENCES THURSDAY; LOCALS ARE SET

First Game Set For 5 P.M.; Friday Will Be An Off Day; Saturday And Sunday Play Called At 3:30; Typhoon Puts Field In Fine Shape

With Shanghai hardly yet recovering its breath after the big typhoon and with the Race Course Diamond still sogged with rain there was not much baseball interest displayed about town yesterday in spite of the approaching Tsingtau series and the boosting being done for the struggling Hong League.

The baseball park suffered its share of damage from the big wind, with the roof of the new sections of the stands blown away again, and with other sections of the mat sheds whipped into broken ribbons. The field itself, though it was inundated by the flood has drained off and will be all the better, after a rolling today for the soaking.

The chief baseball sufferers of the elements Saturday and Sunday were the baseball coolies, who make their home in the dressing room. The big matshed house was flooded when the storm was at its height, and the coolies were flooded right out of their couches on the floor. There was a foot of water in the place.

Only Mal Maloney of the regulars was out for practice yesterday. Mal is feeling nearly well and spry again, and he wants to play baseball. He had a big welcome for Tink Tinkham, a twirler of other years, when that player strolled in through the mud, for a workout. Tinkham only arrived in port Saturday on the Empire State from almost a year's absence in the States. He lost no time in getting out for a limbering up.

Tinkham has not played much ball this season, has only been on the field once or twice, he said. But he expects to play here again. He did not say yesterday whether he was trying to work into shape to pitch for Shanghai, or warming up for his hong team, the American Trading Company. It is known that the A. T. Co. were waiting for Tink's return before they played again. The big pitcher, however looked pretty good for a first-time workout, so perhaps he will offer himself as ready to work for anybody, any time.

The gang probably will be out this evening for a practice. Not that they need it of course, but just for the exercise.

The Tsingtau nine which will try its luck with the Shanghai team commencing Thursday is scheduled to arrive in port this morning on the Sakaki Maru. They will probably be working out on the race course diamond tomorrow. Their first game with Shanghai is scheduled for Thursday at 5 p.m. Friday will be an off day. On Saturday and Sunday the game will be called at 3:30, and the final match on Monday at 5. Tickets for the games for non members will be $1.00 each day. Members cards will obtain admission without cost.

HEXAMER WINS TYPHOON CUP IN CLAY BIRD SHOOT

Breaks 39 Out Of 40 Chances In Difficult Weather Conditions

The Typhoon Cup was competed for on Sunday afternoon, and while the weather conditions were bad they were much worse the previous Sunday.

Mr. A. W. Hexamer put up an excellent performance in breaking 39 out of the 40 birds, which is the best score so far this season. Although shooting from scratch he was an easy winner of the competition.

The undernoted are the full scores:

Player Knocks Five Homers In A Game

Eveleth, Minn., July 16.—First Baseman Daubert of the local team of the Mesaba Iron Range League hit five home runs in as many times at bat in a game with the Virginia team here yesterday. His last home run came in the tenth inning with two men on bases and brought victory to Eveleth by 9 to 6. The five circuit drives were made off Pitcher Dumont, formerly of the Washington American League team.

Home Run Figures Show Big Increase Over Last Season

Many explanations of the current heavy hitting in the major leagues have been offered, and it may be that the real reason lies in a combination of them all. The clouting carnival and the prevalence of bad baseball in general are due, first, to the lively ball, which is lively because it is wound tighter and has a tighter cover; second, to the poor pitching, and, third, to the mental attitude of the pitchers and other players.

The last reason, may be found to be the strongest of the trio. It requires explanation. The major leagues now are in a condition similar to that of 1914, when the Federal League came along. Men in the National and American leagues did not play their best because they felt that the Federal League and its big offers were in the offing. In the Federal League the players thought they were doing the owners a favor by "working" for them. Nowadays a condition quite similar is caused by the scarcity of first class players. Many who would be in the Texas League if the old standard obtained are working in the majors.

The extent to which pitching has deteriorated even in one single year is shown by a comparison of the home run record up to July 6 of this season with the home run record up to July 6 in 1920. This season there have been 493 homers in the majors—241 in the National and 252 in the American—with the difference accounted for by Babe Ruth. Last season up to July 6 there were 295 home runs—120 in the National and 175 in the American—and the fans thought that the batsmen were in a slugging carnival! These home run figures speak for themselves:

JAPANESE WIN FINAL RUBBERS FROM INDIANS

Shimidzu And Kumagae Beat Sleem And Fyzee In Last Two Matches

(Reuter's Service)

New York, August 20.—Despite the fact that Japan had won the first three matches in their Davis Cup encounter with India, and thereby gained the verdict, the remaining rubbers were played today. The Japanese won in both instances, the details being as follows:

Kumagae beat Fyzee 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 9-7.

Shimidzu beat Sleem 7-5, 2-6, 6-0, 6-2.

New York, August 20.—Mrs. Mallory has retained the United States Women's Lawn-tennis Championship title by defeating Miss Browne of California today, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Joe Jeannette To Train Fighting Cop

Joe Jeannette, late sparring partner of Georges Carpentier, has been selected to train Henry Darneille, Washington's fighting cop, who recently attained startling prominence as a future contender against Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight title of the world. Darneille, who waded through a mob of over a hundred men at Capitol Heights, Md., on July 4, with his bare hands, knocking out nineteen and injuring most of the remainder, is under the personal supervision of Dr. F. B. Roller. The doctor thinks that the big policeman should be ready for his first bout about the middle of August. Several prominent promoters have already made offers to stage a bout for Dardneille.

Arrangements are being made for a training camp within a twenty-mile radius of New York City, and Darneille and his entire retinue are ready to move at a moment's notice just as soon as a camp has been decided upon. Road work and general body hardening will make up the bulk of the program to be followed out.

Rickard Waits For Georges To Say When

New York, July 19.—The Gibbons-Carpentier fight will be "on" just as soon as the Frenchman lets Tex Rickard know that the St. Paul "cruiser" is all right.

The match, however, is made, and the Frenchman hardly will raise any objection to Rickard's selection.

The contract hasn't been signed, but it's for twelve rounds if the bout is staged in New Jersey and fifteen rounds if it comes off in New York. Both are to weigh 175 pounds.

Gibbons will train on fights, Eddie Kane, his manager, said today. He is now booking him for an extensive summer campaign.

Rickard would like to have the bout on Columbus Day.

1921 Marks New Era In Tennis The World Over

William T. Tilden 2d Points Out Its Startling Advance This Season As An International Sport—Its Future Assured, Says Champion

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN 2D.

This year marks a new era in tennis the world over and especially in the United States. Truthfully we can say that tennis has become the one international sport. This will be clearly brought to mind within another month when the cracks of no less than a dozen nations arrive in America to compete in our various tournaments, the main objectives being the Davis Cup matches and our national championships in singles and doubles, although some of the players who will visit us, notably Alonzo Manuel, the Spanish star, whose splendid and sound style of play I discussed in a previous article, are doing so solely for the experience to be gained in meeting the various stars of the world in our tournaments scheduled for August and September. Also, members of certain of the invading Davis Cup teams will be brought along for a similar purpose. The object in such cases is to season the less experienced and more promising stars in order to prime them for future years.

What better proof could be offered that tennis has taken hold as no other sport with most of the nations of the world. At the same time we must consider our own national championships as more nearly representing world's championships than has ever been the case before in the game.

12 NATIONS INTERESTED

In the big golf fixtures of this year, especially the open events, there were not more than six nations entered. But in the tennis fixtures schedule in our own land alone at least twelve nations will be represented by teams. Does not this clearly indicate that tennis is rapidly becoming the one great international sport?

What a change since before the war! In those days public interest was mostly in other amateur sports. But since that great conflict no sport has advanced quite so rapidly. This season the interest in tennis will exceed that of any previous year because of widespread international competition and the fact that we are fighting to retain the supremacy won a year ago.

There are some outstanding figures coming to our shores for the purpose of wresting our titles from us. The French team, especially those veterans Laurentz and Gobert, the former a player sound in all strokes and the latter a gallant fighter if ever there was one, will prove most popular. I also look for the game Shimidzu, of Japan, runner-up in the world's championships a year ago, to gain great popularity while here. Another star whose game is most versatile is the young Spanish crack, Manuel Alonzo, whose well controlled twist service and

Tilden Lord Of Tennis Courts

William T. Tilden 2d, of Philadelphia stands once again at the very peak of the lawn tennis world. At twenty-eight years of age he holds the world's championship on turf, retained at Wimbledon recently; the world's clay court championship, won in France two months ago; the National championship of the United States, won last September at the West Side courts at Forest Hills, L. I., and the championship of New Zealand, won on the other side of the world last January.

While piling up this unbroken line of victories he was instrumental with William H. Johnston in bringing the famous Davis Cup back to America.

Once again he stands as the undisputed champion of the world.

TOO BAD FOR THE MAJORS TOO GOOD FOR THE MINORS

Ogden Pitcher Canned When He Shows Too Much Class For The Bush

Ogden, Utah, July 15.—Released from two American League teams because he was "Too Bad," Dave Davenport, former mammoth hurler of the St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators, was released today by the Ogden team of the NorthernUtah League because he is "Too Good."

Big Dave came here a short time ago and has pitched seven games for Ogden. He won them all. He pitched one no-hit game, one one-hit game and one three-hit game. He averaged sixteen men per game by the strike-out route.

Then the other teams rose in revolt. If Davenport continued to pitch for Ogden they'd bust up the circuit, they said. He outclassed this part of Utah. He was too good, and was released.

Davenport calls it tough luck, but says he will report to the Casper, Wyo., team of the Midwest League.

Back in 1914 and 1915 Davenport was a Federal League star. In the latter year he almost won a pennant for St. Louis single-handed. He pitched in forty games, winning twenty-two. Then he went with the Browns, but couldn't behave, was suspended half a dozen times, and finally given up because he was "too bad."

The last big league manager to try him was Clark Griffith. But he couldn't be good there, and finally Griff let him go.

Now he is so good he has had to move on once more to other fields.

AUSTRALIA PILES UP BIG SCORE IN FIRST INNINGS AGAINST GLOUCESTERSHIRE

Knock Up 425 For Eight Wickets On Fast Field; Tire County Bowlers Out By Evening; Bardsley Gets 127, MacCartney 121 And Gregory 78

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 20.—Glorious weather prevailed today at Cheltenham, where the Australians opened a match against Gloucestershire in the presence of 10,000 spectators. The Australians, winning the toss, batted all day on an easy wicket, knocking up 425 for eight wickets. Towards the close of the day the bowlers became very tired, and the scoring was correspondingly fast, though the fielding was good. The principal scorers were Bardsley (127), Macartney (121), and Gregory (78). Macartney batted with his usual brilliance.

Motor-Cyclists May Enter Auto Events At Kiangwan

Motor enthusiasts are taking a sharp interest in the events to be competed for at Barrs Flying Circus exhibitions, at Kiangwan, on Saturday and Sunday next. Yesterday many additional entries were received. Motor cyclists enthusiasts are now beginning to request speciality events. These are to be granted and applications will be received today and tomorrow from motor cyclists at the Hudford Garage for competitors.

To make this latter event or events a success competitors should immediately file their entries. It has been suggested, and if the competitors in the motor events are agreeable, it will be adopted, that each competitor should make an entrance fee and the total will be doubled by the management, the winner and runner up to have it divided among them.

The auto polo practice is in full swing, and with the entries coming along next Saturday and Sunday events at Kiangwan should be more than usually interesting.

Babe Clouts Out His 46th Homer

Babe Ruth who is racing himself for honors as the most consistent hitter-out of home runs, against his own record of 54 for a season rapped out his 46th circuit hit on Friday in the last game of the Yanks final series with the White Sox.

The hit that gave Ruth his 46th homer put him just 16 days ahead of his record for the same number of homers last year, or, in other words, three homers ahead of the same date in 1920.

There are about 45 playing days left in which Ruth must get 9 more home runs to beat his last year's record.

Southern Recipes

By Mary Lee Swann,
The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Baked Ham.

SOAK ham overnight in cold water. Then boil until tender—three or four hours. Let it cool in the same water. Skin and sprinkle with bread crumbs and brown in the oven.

Chicken Broth.

BREAK bones of a chicken and cut into small pieces. Put into a saucepan with 2 quarts of water a slice of onion and a little salt. Add 2 tablespoons rice. Bring to boiling point, skim and cover closely. Simmer gently for 6 hours.

Popovers.

BEAT 3 eggs until very light and add alternately 2 cups milk and 2 cups sifted flour. Beat well with egg-beater. Have iron popover cups hot, put ¼ teaspoon butter into each hot cup and fill about two-thirds full of batter. Bake in a hot oven about 45 minutes.

Spoon Bread.

ADD ½ cup hominy to 1 quart of boiling water, to which 2 teaspoons salt have been added. Add 2 tablespoons lard, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 well-beaten eggs and 1 cup milk. Mix well and add 2 cups cornmeal sifted with 1½ teaspoons baking powder. Pour into a greased baking dish and bake about 45 minutes.

Creole Jumbo.

COOK 1 cup rice 5 minutes. Add a chicken fricassee and cook slowly until rice is done. Season with salt, paprika and a dash of red or black pepper. Oysters which have been steamed with a little butter may be used instead of chicken. Okra and tomatoes fried in a little butter are sometimes added to the chicken.

Smothered Chicken.

CLEAN and disjoint a young chicken and sprinkle with flour. Fry it in ¼ cup oil or butter. When brown add a little water or white stock and cook until very tender. Remove chicken from gravy and add a little rich milk or cream and 1 or 2 egg yolks. Stir until egg is set. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Sweet Potato Pie.

PRESS boiled sweet potatoes through ricer. To the potato pulp add enough rich milk or thin cream to make a soft batter. Sweeten to taste. Add a grating of nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt and 2 or 3 well-beaten eggs. Bake in a plate lined with pastry.

Beaten Biscuit.

MIX and sift 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1½ teaspoons baking powder. Work in 2 tablespoons lard or butter with tips of fingers and use ice water to mix to a dough. Beat as hard as you can for 20 or 25 minutes. Roll out, cut into rounds, prick several times with a fork and bake about ½ hour.

New Orleans Chicken Marengo.

THIS is prepared very much like smothered chicken, except that with the chicken are fried 2 or 3 shallots, a clove of garlic, a bit of bay leaf, a sprig of parsley and a pinch of thyme. The dish on which the chicken is served should be a large one, so that a border of poached eggs on toast triangles may be placed around it.

Macaroni Pie.

COOK the macaroni with an onion in a large pot of cold salted water. When the macaroni is tender drain and rinse with cold water. Scald 2 cups thin cream or milk and add ¼ pound grated cheese, a pinch of mustard and a little salt, paprika and cayenne if desired. Add to the macaroni. Pour into a baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven.

"Hopping John."

PICK over and wash 1 cup cow peas. Soak overnight in cold water. Drain and add 6 cups cold water, a ham bone, 2 or 3 pieces of sausage (or a bacon rind), 1 onion, a pinch of laurel leaf and a small piece of dried red pepper. Cook until peas are soft. Add 2 cups rice and continue cooking until the rice is tender. Add 2 or 3 teaspoons salt when rice is added.

Beauty Questions Answered

IS there any way I can get rid of moth patches on my face and neck?—P. S.

I have it on good authority that the juice of the pineapple is an excellent remedy for these blemishes. Certainly this fruit, if used freely, both outwardly and inwardly, will improve the texture of the skin in a wonderfully effective and surprising manner.

I HAVE numerous liver blotches on my neck and they are spreading toward my face. Can you tell me of something that will remove them?—M. E. B.

Liver spots are often the result of improper eating, so to remove them most effectually there must be a careful and persistent adherence to the hygiene rules of living. The diet should be sparing and fruit freely eaten. A little fresh lemon juice in a glass of water just before meals will be highly beneficial.

WHAT can I do for the blackheads and pimples with which my sixteen-year-old daughter's face is afflicted?—MRS. F.

The hot water treatment for pimples is more efficacious than most medicines. The daily application of soft cloths dipped in hot water has effected a cure within a few days. Blackheads are more obstinate to deal with, but they can usually be eliminated by nightly applications of this remedy:

Tincture of camphor.....1 dram
Precipitate of sulphur....1 dram
Rosewater .....4 ounces

WILL you kindly let me know of a good treatment for enlarged pores? — CONSTANT READER.

An excellent astringent lotion can be made by dissolving a quarter of an ounce of borax and half an ounce of glycerine in a pint of camphor water. Apply a little of this with a soft cloth several times daily.

Household Helps

Washing Flannels.

FLANNELS should be washed by "squashing" them up and down in tepid water; never by rubbing, which injures the texture of the material.

Brightening Gold Lace.

TARNISHED gold lace can be made to look like new by brushing every thread thoroughly with a brush dipped into pulverized burned alum.

Drying Stockings.

IF the stockings you are washing are wanted in a hurry, push balls of crumpled newspaper into them when you hang them up and they will dry more quickly.

A Furniture Cleaner.

A GOOD cleanser for any furniture except white enamel is made by adding one tablespoon of turpentine and three tablespoons of linseed oil to one quart of boiling water. When cool enough to bear the hand in apply with a soft cheesecloth, polishing later with a dry wiper.

MY scalp is always itchy, although I have no dandruff. Please give me a remedy for this. —A. D. E.

An itching scalp is an almost invariable accompaniment of falling hair. To prevent this shampoo the hair at least once a week with the following:

White of two eggs.
Juice of two lemons.
Water .....1 quart

Apply by rubbing the whites of the eggs thoroughly into the scalp with the tips of the fingers. Afterward moisten the scalp with the lemon juice diluted with the quart of tepid water. Rinse thoroughly and dry in the sunshine.

WHEN very hot or very cold my ears become a beet red color and are also oily in the crevices. What can I do to overcome this?—JACK H.

There are many remedies which may be applied locally when the ears become unpleasantly red, and the same treatment will tend to lessen the disagreeable oiliness. Here is an astringent lotion that is excellent for this purpose. Apply it several times a day with a piece of absorbent cotton:

Muriate of ammonia.....1 dram
Tannic acid.....½ dram
Glycerine .....2 ounces
Rosewater .....3 ounces

Saving on Clothes.

CLOTHING will wear longer if taken care of regularly. One suit a year if given attention will look better at the end of that time than will three that are neglected, says Mary Schenck Woolman in her book on "Clothing." Every time the outer clothing is taken off it should be brushed, shaken, smoothed if crushed or stretched into shape and then carefully placed on its hanger in the closet.

Skirts and coats should have hangers of a form to keep the garment in good shape. Trouser hangers are satisfactory for skirts, for they grasp the belt and the garment hangs straight. A cheap hanger of wood is all that is usually necessary, but for delicate blouses or one-piece dresses a foundation covered with cotton batting or soft tissue paper and some soft fabric to hold the padding in place is better.

If the bought hangers are too expensive, a stick of wood with a string tied in the middle can be used, or skirts can have two big safety pins in the band to hang over hooks. Light-colored gowns or waists should be covered with soft muslin bags to keep them from dust and light.

When suits, stockings or underwear are taken off they should be quickly looked over to see if a stitch or darn is needed. Without this stitch buttons may be lost which cannot be matched, trimming ruined by a lack of care, or hours of work needed when a moment in the beginning would suffice.

A garment soon looks shabby if the minor repairs are not attended to before wearing it again. It takes very little time to mend the small breaks or press a crease. Every woman should take care of the small repairs for herself, and thus save paid labor for better uses. If she buys only the most enduring garments with little trimming she will find that only a small amount of time is required to keep them in order.

Everyone should learn quick but adequate ways of keeping clothing in good condition. Good sweaters will soon be destroyed if every little break is not caught immediately, for knitted material will stretch into a gaping hole, difficult to mend in a way that will be invisible.

If an old stocking is torn and worn through in several places time would be wasted in darning it with great care, but if a large hole is torn in an otherwise good stocking a thread can be run around the hole to keep it from stretching, and it can be darned in a short time diagonally across the hole instead of at right angles; double or even three threads at a time can be used to make the work go quickly.

Busy mothers keep needles threaded with darning cotton ready to catch a break in the knit goods of the younger members of the family before the material stretches. If one needle is threaded with one strand, another with two and a third with three strands she is ready to do quick work and save herself a long process later.

Stockings can be refooted by cutting up an old stocking for the purpose, or new feet can be bought at the stores and sewed into the leg after the worn part has been cut away.

Muslin underclothing is in constant need of minor repairs and knitted underwear is apt to break at the point of strain or friction. If patched as soon as they look thin they will wear for a long time if they are made of good materials and have not been ruined by careless laundering.

A small hole in a knitted garment can be darned, or if the material is thin a piece of the same fabric can be laid under the broken place and its raw edges catch stitched down on the back and on the face in a short time, so that it will withstand wear.

The sewing machine should be used to patch every-day muslin underwear rather than taking the time to do it by hand. It is not requisite to make an elaborate overhanded or hemmed-down patch in muslin underclothing when the life of the article is seen to be short, but it is almost criminal at the present to allow garments to be thrown aside sooner than necessary when a few minutes spent upon them will make them last for a long time. To wear them in ragged condition lowers one's self-respect, produces irritation and discomfort and shows lack of thrift. Careful people reinforce the garment at the points most apt to break and thus save time later.

Corsets are apt to cut through where the heavy steel or bones are inserted, and will have to be repaired there before the rest of the garment shows much wear. A small piece of heavy tape or a double piece of fine muslin can be overhanded over the bone to keep it from pushing through.

The garter suspends are also apt to break soon and can be easily repaired by sewing on new elastic.

Men's shirts wear out quickly at the neckband and a new one will make the garment as good as new. The edge of the starched collar will often wear through the fabric in front. This can be readily repaired by cutting a yoke from the tail of the shirt several inches deep, thus making a new front about the size of a dicky. By matching the patterns this repair is not noticed.

AUTO SHOW TO BE STAGED IN VERDUN GARDEN

Frenchtown Park Chosen By Dealers; Date Set For November 26

Shanghai's first automobile show probably will be held in the French Concession. At yesterday's meeting of the executive committee a report from Mr. H. S. Honigsberg, who had been delegated at a previous meeting to interview the directors of the French club with a view to obtaining the use of Verdun Gardens for the show, reported that the directors had called a special meeting to consider the request, and that the outlook for obtaining the ground was favorable.

The reply of the French club directors will be in hand at the next meeting, which was set for Thursday evening at the Palace Hotel, and in the event that a favorable answer is received, a sub committee on buildings will be appointed to suggest a structure to house the show.

With the date for the show tentatively set for November 26-December 3, the executive committee plans to go full steam ahead.

At last night's meeting there was a long discussion on the best method of advertising the exhibition and it was apparent that the Shanghai automobile and accessory men wish to advertise the show far and wide throughout Central, South and North China.

Beginning today, Messrs. Buck and West, treasurer and manager, respectively, of the show, will send out letters to all prospective exhibitors, outlining the plan upon which the show is to be held, and requesting that they send in reservations for space.

The Shanghai automobile show will be a great success if the enthusiasm of the dealers and other trade representatives is a criterion. At every meeting of the executive committee so far held there has been a large attendance and very animated discussions. The Chairman of the committee, Mr. Dodge, reports that dozens of inquiries about the show have come to him, and that all indications point to a very widespread interest in the enterprise.

Through the efforts of firemen of the Hongkew Division most of the contents of a godown filled with tea at No. 1 Chapoo Road was saved from damage shortly after 9 o'clock last night when a blaze developed in the upper story of the structure. By the time the firemen arrived it had gained considerable headway and was eating its way through the floor to the lower story.

New Era Due In Tennis Says Tilden

brilliant all around game are bound to create a most favorable impression.

THE PASSING STARS

We will miss such old standbys as Norman E. Brookes of Australia, the greatest court strategist the game has yet seen, and Major John Cecil Parke of former English teams, whose ability to rise to great heights in the pinches of hard matches was a quality which formerly endeared him to the sporting public. Both were well known to the followers of this sport in America. I doubt if either country will send their equals this season.

The United States will have a somewhat difficult time holding its high place against this large field. Fortunately the advantage of playing at home is ours, although this advantage will not be so telling a factor as it is in a game like golf. In a driving game like tennis, which demands instantaneous reaction of mind and body, nervousness, often a deciding factor in golf, is soon worn off. Physical condition is therefore a paramount factor, especially in the long grind of a national championship in which stiff matches are the rule every day, for a week or more. While we may be better acclimated to our own climate than our visitors we draw our players from such a wide area as to almost equalise this point. As a result the international tests played here will be as fair for one team as another.

Soviet Russia As It Is Today

(Rosta News Agency)

BY WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

Moscow (by mail), July 25.—Of all the lies told about Russia none has been circulated more persistently than the assertion that under the Soviet system the trade unions have been robbed of their importance and now are negligible in power and consequence. Some American labor men have repeated this ad nauseam. Now, exactly the reverse is true. The fact is that the trade unions are the very foundation of the whole Soviet structure; without their support and co-operation it would go to smash in a hurry. This is frankly recognised here on all sides.

The Russian trade union movement is throbbing with life. This was strikingly manifest at the recent convention of the All Russian unions. The convention occupied itself with the most weighty social, political and economic problems now confronting Russia, and so important were its sessions considered that many of the country's greatest men, including Lenin, Gorki (Gorki sat through several sessions) attended them and participated. Public interest was intense. It was almost impossible to get a ticket of admission to the great theater where the convention was held. The place was constantly jammed with spectators and the mass of delegates (3,105 delegates representing 8,485,800 members).

RED ARMY ON GUARD

In front of the building was stretched a cordon of Red Army soldiers to hold back the big crowds seeking entrance. During the convention word came to the presiding officers that some delegates, eager to secure admission for their friends, were bunching their delegate cards and sending them out so that those on the outside could come in with the cards. To stop this practice the chair announced that all delegates leaving the hall would have to display their cards to re-enter and those unable to do so would be arrested.

Take this surging Russian trade union convention, dealing with most vital problems, and with people braving jail to attend it; compare it with the American Federation of Labor lack lustre affairs, occupying themselves for the most part with trivialities, and mustering at best a bakers' dozen or two of spectators, and one gets a fair idea of the comparative importance and vitality of the two trade union movements in their respective countries. It ill becomes American union leaders to sneer at the Russian labor movement.

UNIONS ARE GROWING

Although the Russian trade unions have accomplished things without parallel in labor history they are for the most part of very recent origin. In fact, the movement as it now stands properly may be said to be only four years old. The first traces of unionism in Russia began to develop toward the end of the nineteenth century when a few workers' benefit societies led a precarious existence. Occasionally these primitive bodies waged strikes, but in such events the Czar's agents inflicted frightful hardships upon them, often shooting the strikers and exiling their leaders. Under such conditions the movement made little headway.

The first great wave of real trade union organisation came with the revolutionary attempt of 1905. Unions sprang up all over Russia. But with the failure of the revolution and with the attendant bitter persecution by the government they soon began to decline again until within a couple of years the movement practically disappeared. A revival occurred in 1912-1913 and great headway was being made when the war came on and almost completely wiped out the movement again.

And so the situation remained all through the war, with the workers destitute of industrial organisation. It is stated that at the outbreak of the February revolution in 1917 there were in all Russia only three unions, which had a combined membership of but 1,385. With the downfall of the Czar's government a tremendous trade union renaissance took place. Millions of workers streamed into the organisation.

The following figures will show the progress of the movement to its present status, where it encompasses practically the entire Russian working class: January, 1917, 1,385; June, 1917, 1,475,429; January, 1918, 2,532,000; January, 1919, 3,638,812; April, 1920, 4,262,000; May, 1921, 8,485,800.

ELATED WHEN HE GETS 3 YEARS FOR $66,000 THEFTS

Memphis Teller For 12 Years Missed Vacations To Shield Shortage

COURT GETS CONFESSION

Began With $100 Holdout And Lived In Hope Of Making All Good

Memphis, July 9.—Alex V. Smith, formerly note teller for the First National Bank, today stood convicted but elated with a three year term, given to him after he had confessed to a $66,001.37 peculation and pleaded guilty.

During the twelve years Smith was connected with the bank he never took a vacation, never was absent or late in reporting for duty. He told reporters in order to cover up the shortage he had to be continually on the job.

John D. Martin, Smith's counsel, read a copy of Smith's confession to the court in his plea for leniency. The confession says:

"I, Alex V. Smith, of Raleigh, Tenn., do hereby make this voluntary confession.

"I was born in Liverpool, England, on June 8, 1883. I left England and came to the United States when I was about 22 years old. After a short stay in New York city I came to Memphis, Tenn., and became a bank clerk in the employ of the Bank of Commerce of Memphis, where I worked for about nine months. I then entered the employ of the First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn., and was continuously employed there until January 13, 1921. I was note teller at the First National Bank for about twelve consecutive years. During this time I gave diligent attention to the duties of the position.

"About eleven years ago, one day after the vaults were closed, to accommodate a customer I took a deposit of about $100. That night I used this money to pay a debt, hoping to replace it immediately. It was never replaced, and the shortage grew, until January 12, 1921, it amounted to $66,001.37.

"My method of concealment was throughout the entire period of shortage to hold out money paid for remittances for a day or two, then remit, being in the manner always short in my remittances.

"I married about eight years ago, and at the time of my marriage my shortage was comparatively small. My family consists of my wife, aged 31 years, and three children, Alex V., Jr., aged 7; Jim Mangrum, aged 6, and Jay Shaw, aged 2 years 9 months.

"The moneys which I embezzled from the bank were absorbed in my personal expense and extravagances. I have not dissipated money in gambling, or speculation. I have, of course, entertained the vague hope that I could make restitution of these peculations, but have been crushed with the realisation that this was impossible.

"The strain of my situation has, of course, been terrible and I have suffered immense mental torture for years.

"I have been unable to obtain sufficient sleep or rest except through the use of intoxicants, and have been compelled to resort to the same means as a stimulant to enable me to discharge the regular duties of my office.

"For many years I have been on the point of making a clean breast of the whole terrible situation, but at the last moment lost my nerve and would continue to carry on my wrongdoing. I am most deeply penitent, but realise that I should be punished and desire to be.

"It is my intention and desire that in the event there should be an indictment returned against me on account of my wrongdoing to immediately enter a plea of guilty to the same and throw myself without reservation upon the mercy of the court.

"It is my desire to receive such penalty as may be inflicted on me as speedily as possible, it being my deep desire, after I have met my punishment, to rise again and be a man. It will be my earnest effort to make good, in the fullest measure possible, the loss which has been occasioned as the result of my wrongdoing."

After the shortage was discovered Smith says regarding his conversation with bank officials:

"I gave them the exact figures, to wit, $66,001.37, together with all data and documents pertaining thereto, thereby enabling the officials of the bank to make a speedy adjustment of their records. I gave the exact amount of my shortage as stated above so that the bank would not be put to the necessity of a long, laborious and expensive audit of my accounts."

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

LENIN AT OPENING OF IRISH EMBASSY

Bolshevist Leader Bares Head While Band Plays Sinn Fein Tunes

FAR APART IN THEORY

Chief Interested In Economic Dependence Of Ireland Upon Britain

BY CAPT. FRANCIS M'CULLAGH

The opening of the Sinn Fein Embassy in Moscow in June was attended by Lenin, who stood bareheaded while the military band lent by Trotsky for the occasion played a number of Irish rebel tunes. The Bolshevist leader closed the proceedings with a few appropriate words in English. Previous to this Mr. Conoly or Conody, the Irish ambassador, made a short speech in Gaelic, which was translated first into English and then into Russian for the benefit of Lenin and his friends, among whom was Tchitcherin, the Bolshevist Commissary of Foreign Affairs, and Zinovieff, President of the Third Internationale. Trotsky was not present.

The young Irish actress who is a member of the Irish ambassadorial staff takes a great deal of interest in the famous Artistic Theater, still perhaps the best theater in the world. The others have little to do save to learn Russian, of which, however, none of them can speak more than a few words. They deal mostly with the officials of the Third Internationale and with the Indian, Persian and Afghan emissaries, whose language about England leaves them nothing to add.

LENIN'S HOPES FOR IRELAND

They are mistaken, however, if they think that Lenin takes them seriously, though he always receives them with courtesy and listens attentively to their explanation of the Irish question. He never seems to be very much shocked, however, by their lurid description of Sir Hamar Greenwood's regime, for his own regime was exactly the same regime of terror, and he is a firm believer in terror as a means of government. On two points he and they are as far apart as they can possibly be. These points are patriotism and economics. The former he cannot understand at all; he regards it only as an out of date sentimentality like religion. Economics he does understand, but he takes a diametrically opposite view of it to his Irish visitors.

The only part of the Irish question to which Lenin pays any intelligent attention is the economic dependence of Ireland on Great Britain and of northeast Ulster on the rest of Ireland. The former circumstance will, he hopes, lead to the Bolshevisation of English labor through Irish chaos, and the latter will ultimately, he thinks, lead to the Bolshevisation of Ireland through hard bitten Belfast mechanics, abandoned by England and driven desperate by the present wave of industrial depression. His sympathy is always with the factory hand, never with the peasant; and he looks forward to the time when Irish labor will rule Ireland through Soviets. As he dislikes Catholicism more than he dislikes Presbyterianism, he is rather attracted to northern Ireland and rather repelled by the south.

FAITH IN WORKMEN

He thinks it rather clever of Lloyd George to back up the Belfast shipyard men, for it is just what he would have done under the circumstances himself, believing firmly, as he does, in the superiority of workmen over peasants as revolutionary and fighting material. To that belief, in fact, he owes his whole success. He pinned his faith to the Russian workmen, who hate priests, are more concentrated, and can therefore be more easily propagandised and welded together into an irresistible phalanx for the overthrow of any government. The social revolutionaries pinned their faith to the priest ridden peasant, isolated, scattered over vast areas, ignorant, avaricious, the very stuff of which slaves are made; and Kerensky's overthrow was the result.

Lenin laughs loudly at the idea of religious intolerance having anything to do with Ulster's opposition to home rule. "It is only," he says to his friends, "the natural antipathy of trained and educated workmen to a government of superstitious peasants. The English aristocrats and capitalists have made use of that antipathy for their own ends, but the day will come when they will regret having taught the Ulster workmen their strength, for that strength inevitably will be used against them in the long run."

He holds that, at bottom, Ulsterism is Bolshevism; that is, the domination of a peasant majority by a well disciplined minority of skilled workmen. "Political changes are very rapid nowadays," he remarked, "and in a year or two these workmen will measure their strength with their own employers. The latter taught them to defy acts of Parliament, to arm against the Crown and to ters. It is an exceedingly useful lesson."

IRELAND AS A SIDESHOW

But Lenin always regards Ireland as a sideshow, economically bound to England and incapable of independent existence, though useful for the revolutionising of the English workmen. At present, however, he is seeking to attract English capital and English trade, and would promptly expel the Sinn Feiners from Moscow if the British Government asked him to do so. That Lloyd George has not asked him to do so shows that the British Premier is rather pleased that the Sinn Feiners are in Moscow, where they will furnish excellent material for propaganda against Sinn Fein in Great Britain, France, America and at the Vatican. It is quite possible that De Valera will finally get shipwrecked against the rock of Roman Catholicism, and Lloyd George is probably awaiting this event to happen. And the more he allows De Valera to get entangled with Lenin the more likely it is to happen.

There can be no other explanation for Lloyd George's silence with regard to this Sinn Fein embassy at Moscow. Mr. Peters the head of a Russian bureau in the British Foreign Office, was in Moscow last week making arrangements for the reception of Mr. Hodgson, who was to leave London in a few days for Russia at the head of the British Overseas Trade Mission to Russia, and though he know of the presence in Moscow of the Irish mission he raised no objection.

Lloyd George's cynical tolerance in this matter is in marked contrast to the violence he displayed when he learned in Switzerland last year, from the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, that the Bolshevist political agents in London had been deceiving him with regard to the terms offered by Trotsky to the Poles. A gentleman who was in the Premier's party on that occasion afterwards described to me the violence of his wrath at being thus hoodwinked; and it is well known that the first thing he did on returning to Downing Street was to have those Bolshevist representatives ordered out of the country. Yet now he has proofs, he says, that Lenin has actually opened communication with the Irish rebels in the very heart of the British Empire; yet he seems to be rather pleased than otherwise and send no communication on that subject to Moscow, though he would be within his rights in breaking off the trade agreement and sending Krassin's mission back to Russia.

AFTER BIGGER GAME

As a matter of fact neither Lloyd George nor Lenin take this matter seriously, and each knows that the other does not take it seriously. Lenin is after bigger game than Ireland and is looking a long way ahead. He is as flinty hearted on the subject of Irish grievances as Napoleon was on the subject of Corsican independence or Polish grievances and would sacrifice Ireland as readily as Napoleon sacrificed the Corsicans and the Poles. He is a machine, a living formula, not a man; and the Sinn Feiners will yet find this out.

Finally, the ease with which these six Sinn Feiners got to Moscow is very suspicious, and leads one to think that Lloyd George knew they were going and put no obstacle in their way, as he now puts no obstacle in the way of their remaining, for they furnish him with the best propaganda against Sinn Fein that he could possibly wish for.

There is at present in Riga an ex-officer of Carson's Ulster army who is a virulent enemy of Sinn Fein and a reserve officer in the British army, who told me that even he had the utmost difficulty in getting a passport from Belfast to Riga. Two British secret service officers traveled specially from Dublin to Belfast to see him as soon as he had sent in his application, and it was only after the intervention of his Member of Parliament, a rabid Orangeman who is personally interested in the commercial business on which he was sent to Latvia, that the application was accepted. And to think, in view of this fact, that six Sinn Feiners with Irish names and a strong Irish accent, with credentials from the Dail Eireann and with several women in their party, could come unmolested all the way from Dublin to Moscow! One curious circumstance is that copies of all their letters to Lenin immediately find their way into the hands of British agents on the Russian frontier.

Steamer Nanking Due Here Tomorrow

The China Mail steamer Nanking from San Francisco via Honolulu and Yokohama is due to dock at the China Merchants Lower Wharf tomorrow morning, instead of at the Central wharf as previously announced.

The Nanking will be despatched for Hongkong and Singapore on Friday.

Movies Americanising Children Of England

London, July 9.—English children are rapidly becoming Americanised through seeing nothing but American moving pictures, is the contention of A. G. Granger, manager of an educational picture series, who holds that film education ought to be part of every school curriculum.

"Millions of children go to the pictures regularly," he said to an interviewer. "In American films no opportunity is lost to introduce the American flag; American motors are shown and popularised; American ideas in dress, furniture, habits and customs are being continually put before the children, with the result that they know more about Lincoln and the North and South war than about Oliver Cromwell and Nelson."

"Where did the fashion for bobbed hair come from? From America, and by the film," he added.

All English teachers are now in favor of introducing the film into the schools, Mr. Granger says.

PUPILS GIVE PROGRAM

D'Administration Municipale De La Concession Francaise de Changhai

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each).

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

6°—Applications for Debentures under par will not be recognised by the Council.

7°—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. LEGENDRE, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 1st July, 1921.
P. LEGENDRE,
40063 Secretary.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance

By Brigadier-General C. D. Bruce, C.B.E., F.R.G.S.

(Note: Gen. Bruce, writer of the following article, in the current issue of the Asiatic Review, London, formerly was Captain Superintendent of Police in Shanghai.)

Is the Anglo-Japanese Alliance to be renewed or has the necessity for it passed?

The time approaches when the question will have to be definitely faced. It may be desirable to take stock of some of the main issues.

Of these, at this present crisis in the history of the world, unquestionably the most important is the effect of any such renewal upon public opinion in America. In plain language, it is a comparison of values between an Anglo-American entente and an Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

To show that this is no idle statement, it may be worth while to recall briefly certain pronouncements upon the subject by various public men in England and America.

One of the gravest warnings against antagonishing public opinion in America was that given not long ago by Lord Grey of Fallodon.

Speaking for publication, he said: "He was one of those who thought there would be little pleasure or interest in living on in this world if there were a war between the United States and ourselves. He believed that the cordial relations and co-operation between these two countries would do more than anything else for the benefit of the whole world.

"He regretted that in the United States they seemed to be very conscious of the effect of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and to be discussing the possibilities of it involving their own country and ours in war."

From across the Atlantic comes another warning. It is quoted from the Chicago Tribune by the very able correspondent of the London Times at Washington.

"The Tribune," writes the Times correspondent, "is moved by the report that the Japanese Diet had rejected by 285 to 38 a resolution to negotiate for a 'naval holiday' with America and England. The paper sees in so big a vote a revelation of national feeling 'and a conscious or subconscious purpose.'"

The Chicago Tribune continues:

"Britain and the United States either will force a change in Japanese policy or one or both of them will be in an Asiatic war. It will be one, and that one will be the United States.

"A naval holiday agreed to by the United States and Britain, and agreed to by Japan, or forced upon her, would prevent both an alliance in one direction and a misunderstanding in the other—twin mischiefs for the white world.

"We cannot outbuild the British and Japanese Alliance. It is suicide for the white race to drive these two together. If the navies remain at their present strength we shall have an understanding with the British and Japan will come down off her high horse. If we pursue an anti-British policy, Japan will ride that horse to war."

At the George Washington Celebrations in New York on February 23 last, vent was given expression to by the Jingo element of American opinion upon the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. Rear-Admiral H. McL. Hulse, the lately appointed Commandant of the New York Naval Yard, argued openly that it was necessary "for America to construct a navy to meet the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. Congress should know," he added, "against whom the navy was being built."

Fresh issues also arise out of post-war conditions in the Southern Pacific, in Australia, and in New Zealand. In these issues British Dominion opinion is involved; in the case of certain Dominions, deeply involved. The question of Chinese immigration into Northern Australia has not moved, nor is it likely to move in the direction of Japanese longings. Neither has the handling over of the island of Yap, with its Pacific cable connections, tended to mitigate anti-Japanese feeling either in America, in Australia, or in New Zealand. It may be easy for those who wish to do so to neglect or to brush aside such expressions of opinion as the above. It is still easier to talk of war between England and America as "unthinkable and inconceivable." But, almost to the extent of an overthrow of world civilisation, many things both "unthinkable and inconceivable" have happened since 1914.

There are further issues at stake which need to be carefully considered before a renewal of the Alliance is definitely confirmed. Some of these issues are entirely, some in part, novel. In the forefront of these new issues stands the naval building competition now decided on, or about to be commenced, by America, Japan, and England. In the case of the first two nations the avowed object of this latest building program is for the mastery of the Pacific; in that of the first and last mentioned, according to widespread opinion in America, for the mastery of the world's high seas.

Other novel complications which have arisen and which must influence opinion for or against a renewal of the Alliance are the disappearance, for the time being at any rate, of Germany as a World Power and the downfall of a stable Russian Government. Bolshevism, whatever its end may be, can never furnish an enduring Government.

Intimately connected with the downfall of the Government of the late Czar are the possibilities, or the reverse, of further expansion for Japanese interests in Manchuria and East Siberia; and the increasing opposition to Japanese occupation and domination upon the part of a patriotic Korean party.

Both these last-mentioned issues involve cardinal points in the foreign policy of whatever Japanese Government may happen to be in power. They must, therefore, be taken into account in the making of any alliance. They cannot be treated by Japan as merely matters of domestic policy.

Still more closely allied with Japanese foreign policy, therefore with the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, is the attitude, both during and since the Great War, of Japan to China.

Even if no definite Anglo-Chinese Alliance has ever been suggested, the fact that Great Britain considers it worth while to contract and renew an offensive and defensive alliance with China's masterful neighbor tends, to some extent, to lessen the value of England's well-known friendship for China. There were, too, certain phases in Sino-Japanese relations during the Great War which, so far as the attitude of England was concerned, require, to the Chinese mind, considerable explanation.

The time has come when Anglo-Chinese relations can no longer be sacrificed upon the altar of an Anglo-Japanese Alliance. This is not to say that the two things are incompatible, but before sacrificing one for the other, let us be quite certain we are not grasping at the shadow and missing the substance of future Chinese friendship.

The new experiments in democratic Government which have lately been initiated in India are no doubt receiving thorough consideration at the hands of the statesmen responsible for the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. What the effect of a renewal of that alliance may be upon the minds of the new governing classes in India, it is too early yet to suggest. At the same time the possible effect in India of such a renewal cannot be ignored.

Among the original conditions perhaps the chief one instrumental in bringing about the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was what was known in those days as the "Russian menace to India." That this has in one sense passed has already been stated. Whether a new Russian Bolshevist menace, not only to India, but also to Afghanistan, to Persia, and possibly to Mesopotamia, is not about to take the place of the old menace, time alone will show. The question to be answered is: Will a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance be of any help in combating such a danger? In other words, is the old "Russian menace to India" about to be revived in a more insidious and dangerous form?

If the answer be in the affirmative, one of the strongest of the original reasons for the alliance still holds good; but is the Bolshevik menace likely to last?

Much has lately been written of the widening of the gulf which separates "East and West." A well-known American journalist, an owner of magazines, has gone so far as to endeavor to revive the cry of the "Yellow Peril." And though in the sense suggested the cry is an empty catchword, it has now another and far deeper significance.

Owing to the appalling economic conditions brought about throughout the entire world by the Great War, Europe is at present standing on the verge of international bankruptcy. The economic crisis in Europe is tending, and will tend in future to a much greater extent than is yet dreamed of, to create new industries of all kinds in more than one Asiatic country. Particularly will this be the case in China. It is unnecessary here to labor the various points of low wages, of the millions of what may be called "factory fodder," of the unlimited raw material on the spot, and of other industrial qualifications to be found in Asiatic countries. The point to which attention is here directed is whether for economic reasons a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is advisable. No advantage that the alliance can bring will prevent the most severe economic competition between England and Japan.

One of the weightiest arguments against a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has been left to the last. And this because, again, American public opinion is directly concerned.

If the League of Nations has any claim to be, or to become, a permanent support upon which a maimed and nerve-shattered world may lean during convalescence, it must, in the first place, include all the great nations of the world. America must be among those, nor can the League exclude Germany. It must also take the place of all international alliances of the offensive and defensive type. There can be no room in the world at the same time for militant alliances and the League of Nations.

Sir Edward Carson, in the House of Commons, has lately expressed the opinion that if we are not able to make the League of Nations a reality, we have fought the war in vain. Few, if any, of the most ardent supporters of the League can say at present that it is a reality.

How can it be until America is prepared to shoulder her share of the obligations which the Great War cast upon the sorely bruised shoulders of the victors?

The new American President has clearly said that she is not yet prepared to accept this burden.

Can England not help her?

Mr. Harding emphasises the fact that American interests do not center in Europe. They lie, he says quite plainly, in the United States and in the twin oceans which wash her far-flung coast line. In the Pacific the now widely extended spheres of interest of America equal, if they do not exceed, those in the Atlantic. And in future the people of the United States know that the handling of their Far Eastern policy will be not the least important feature of Republican diplomacy.

WHY MR. FLEMING DEPARTS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I am sailing for America on the Steamship Empress of Russia. I am not leaving on a biennial furlough, nor am I leaving to attend a meeting of the American Bar Association or a meeting of any fraternal society. I am going straight to Washington, D.C., in response to telegraphic advices I have received to be there in connection with an investigation I initiated in the Department of State early in March of this year.

Lest certain evil-disposed persons should misrepresent the purpose of my departure I would ask you kindly to publish this at an early date. Yours very truly,

WM. S. FLEMING.

ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: I found Mr. Bruce Hopper's "criticism" of John Bull and Mr. Lloyd George intensely amusing on Sunday morning and on reading the New York cable of August 20, quoting the comments of American papers on Mr. Lloyd George's speech, the article by Mr. Hopper certainly appears absurd and provincial. At any rate it is obvious that Mr. Lloyd George's statements were interpreted in an entirely different light in New York and to the credit of those good people, I believe it to be the correct interpretation.

It is perfectly evident that Mr. Hopper has a grudge against Japan, but why let it run away with one's sense of proportion to such an extent as to allow one to cast innuendoes, not only against a very noble statesman, but against the motives of a great-hearted country which, in spite of the aiding of misguided opinions, is striving hard to consolidate its friendship with the American nation. At times the task becomes very difficult because of the misled outspokenness of would-be patriots and articles like Mr. Hopper's, whilst serving no useful purpose to the American readers, as is shown by the cables from America, only tend to exasperate British soldiers and sailors who fought from 1914 to 1918. Why, I ask, cannot Great Britain live in peace and friendship with both America and Japan—she is a debtor to both, as they are in turn to her and all must fulfil their obligations. What will it benefit England if every time she makes a friend she casts off an old and tried one? Apply the principle to everyday life—what shall it benefit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his honor?

World politics are too involved for the expression of dogmatic opinions. Give the people the news straight. They are capable of forming their own opinion on the Anglo-Japanese treaty without anyone forming it for them! I am, Sir, Yours, etc.

"CLUTCHING HAND."

[Editor's Note: Clutching Hand is rather clutching at straws when he picks up a couple of excerpts from editorials cabled by Reuter's and with them attempts to challenge Mr. Hopper's argument. It is hardly fair of Reuter to cable these excerpts, for, as is obvious from Clutching Hand's letter, they serve only to cloud opinion abroad as to America's real position. American opinion, both press and public, is 100 percent against renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in any form. Reuter knows this, but Clutching Hand evidently doesn't, and therefore it is mischievous of Reuter to mislead him. Americans all over the world are bringing every argument to bear towards breaking down this unnatural alliance. Canadians are doing the same thing and most of the enlightened opinion of the rest of the British Empire is working to the same end.

The point which many people miss in reading what Lloyd George has to say about this matter, is that as British Premier he must continue to uphold this Alliance and to praise Japan as "a faithful friend and ally," right up to the minute that the Alliance finally is smashed. Mr. Hopper, however, is not the British Premier, and we feel safe in saying he never will be, and it therefore follows that he is under no official restraint. If he feels that Japan was not "a faithful friend and ally" of the British during the war he has a right to say so, and as a matter of fact in saying so he but expresses the opinion of nearly all Americans and Britons. America, without any alliance, was a better friend of Great Britain throughout the war than Japan was, and Japan had a hard and fast alliance that had been of great value to her, and of great harm to her partner in it.

One has only to compare the war efforts of America and Japan in order to learn the truth as to where the real friendship existed. Japan spent a good part of her time during the war in jamming secret and unpalatable agreements down the throats of her Allies and another good part of her time in imposing her ruthless will upon helpless China. America sent her whole battle fleet to England. She put 5,000,000 men under arms and got 2,000,000 of them across in a year and a half. What did Japan do in something over four years? If Mr. Hopper lacks a sense of proportion in judging these things, here certainly are some proportions for Clutching Hand to consider.]

EARLY MORNING ACCIDENT

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: I call your attention to a news article published Wednesday, and to letters in morning paper's Correspondence Columns all referring to what you headline as "An Early Morning Accident."

The impression given the reading public of Shanghai would be that the driver of the automobile in question had actually "overtaken" the ricsha, as your news reporter had it, collided with it, and that the ricsha runner suffered serious injuries as a result of such collision. Also that, the driver of the motor car was allowed to depart on his way, while the poor, injured ricsha man was arrested for having been run over by a reckless auto driver. I should like to correct this false impression.

I was the driver of the car in question. Here are the facts: I was driving at a moderate speed northward on the Bund. Approaching Kiukiang road a ricsha coolie traveling at a fast pace overtook me. Wishing to turn into Kiukiang road, I sounded my horn as a warning, and carefully began the turn. Seeing however that I could not make the turn before the speedy ricksha could stop, I swerved again down the Bund, to save a collision, and drove the machine on the footpath to a stop.

The ricsha runner and his vehicle was not touched by my car. He had swerved up Kiukiang road to safety. One of my passengers, however, suffered a broken leg when I grazed a tree on the walk. The ricsha man was not injured. I took the injured man to a hospital. The ricsha man was taken to the station by the traffic officer on duty who had witnessed the affair.

I trust you will publish this letter so that the people of Shanghai will not believe that I was speeding or driving at a reckless disregard for the life of a ricsha man.

Yours truly.
ELLIS T. BASHA.

And you think she loves you too,
But you feel too shy to tell her,
And you don't know what to do,
Just wait your opportunity,

Then pull yourself together,
If your feeling very shy—
And kiss her!

If you've had a fearful quarrel
With the sweetest girl you know,
And you're feeling very sorry,
And would like to tell her so,
But you feel a trifle doubtful
As to what she'll do or say,

Human Hornets Menace To Whole Of British Empire

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER

Webster describes a hornet as "a stinging insect, having a slender waist, quick to resent an affront, petulant, irascible, captious."

Lloyd George is a man of many parts and something of a student of nature. Among his varied jobs is that of keeper of an apiary in which he has a goodly number of two-legged animals with well developed stingers and more or less slender waists. For purposes of nature study we may limit our investigations to four specimens, though this number does not begin to exhaust the collection buzzing around the keeper and periodically stinging him in some tender spot of his political anatomy. These hornets are distinguished from the ordinary bee in that they bring home no honey and become petulant and irascible without waiting for an affront. They are always on the wing for an unprotected part of John Bull.

This quartet of hornets comprise a wide range of species. There is the white hornet, black hornet, the red hornet and the South African type. All have long memories. Now and again some expert advises the British Prime Minister to handle them with a "strong hand," while another suggests the velvet glove would be more efficacious, but to date Lloyd George has been fairly well satisfied to remain on the defensive.

DE VALERA MOST ACTIVE

There is considerable difference of opinion as to the origin of the most prominent member of this quartet, but Eamon De Valera, "born in New York, 1889 (father Spanish, mother Irish)," according to Who's Who, is easily the worst hornet in an unusually waspish age. The president of Sinn Fein is the youngest of the quartet, but by far the most troublesome. He stings right through John Bull's mailed fist and shows equal indifference toward any proffer of a velvet glove. He is not only "petulant, irrascible, captious," but persistent, tenacious, courageous, fearless and clever. De Valera's methods are simple. He is a product of the West. He is constantly active, always aggressive, brutally frank.

What De Valera is in the West, Gandhi is in the East. Gandhi is much the elder, no less active, equally dangerous. To John Bull these two hornets are wild revolutionaries. They are totally different in appearance, manners and methods. Gandhi is a reactionary progressive; De Valera is his antithesis. Gandhi is an obstructionist, a pacifist; De Valera is a Bolshevik, a Prussian. Gandhi would have India for the Indians; De Valera would have Ireland for Sinn Fein. Lord Reading, the vicerory of India, has sat in conference with Gandhi. De Valera has never met Lord French or Lord Edmund Talbot face to face. Gandhi's sting is no less painful because his buzz is not so loud as De Valera's. The Oriental envelops his movements in a sort of mysticism which baffles the Westerner. Gandhi is dangerous when he is quiet. Inaction would be fatal to De Valera. Gandhi is a mixture of West and East. Western education has knit India, drawn together the various elements and bred "a sense of Indian nationhood," in the words of a famous British authority on India. Gandhi has taken advantage of this situation and cultivated with wonderful success the feeling of dissatisfaction for alien tutelage.

ZAGHLUL PASHA BUZZING

Zaghlul Pasha is buzzing around John Bull's ears in a particularly menacing manner at the present moment. Zaghlul is a striking figure, either dressed in a Bond Street morning suit or the flowing robes of an Egyptian pasha. He, too, is a Nationalist leader, a revolter against British rule, an advocate of independence. He is old enough to be De Valera's father and easily the senior of Gandhi, but the hot suns of Egypt have not evaporated his reservoir of energy. Zaghlul resembles De Valera more nearly than he does Gandhi. His is a firebrand spirit. Compromisers are unsatisfactory to him. He has the spirit of a great gambler who is ready to risk everything in the expectation of a real killing.

Adly Pasha is the Egyptian Prime Minister, and for that very reason he is anathematised by Zaghlul. Adly must, necessarily, under the existing order serve, as the instrument of the British, and Zaghlul would oust the British from Egypt, bag and baggage.

By comparison the fourth of this quartet of hornets is as gentle as a humming bird. General Herzog placed his faith in the ballot box, and General Smuts is the cader of the South African Federation, whereas if Hertzog had won that country would be withdrawing from the British Empire. Hertzog is the veteran of the four. The Boer leader gave the English a worrisome time twenty years ago and equally alarming moments this spring when the contest was fought in the polling booths instead of the veldts. Herzog has lost most of his power to sting. His day seems about over, but his followers have not given up hope. These hornets have one thing in common—a desire for national independence. This desire was not born with the war, but the war seems to have intensified it.

ANCIENT CHINESE WRITINGS PROMISE TUBERCULOSIS CURE

Fukusaburo Kurakami, a son of a former retainer of the Hitotsubashi clan and an ardent student of Chinese classics, claims that he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis through reading ancient Chinese writings. For 10 years he has devoted his time to the study of the remedy which he came across while reading Chinese medical remedies. The herbs, he declares, are Japanese and will without fail cure all cases. Since the perfection of the discovery recently Kurakami claims to have cured 30 persons of the disease.

His offers to leading scientists and doctors have been shunned, however, and the cure is still without scientific confirmation. His

CHICAGO RESENTS EINSTEIN CHARGE

Women Indignant, Men Agree That Fair Sex Dominate America

Chicago, July 9.—Prof. Einstein's opinions of America as quoted in cable despatches received here today met with a violent protest. Chicago women were indignant at the charge against them. Chicago men seemed to agree with Prof. Einstein on the dominance of women and that American men were the "toy dogs" of American women.

"Perfectly ridiculous," said Mrs. Frederick D. Countiss, Chicago's leading clubwoman. "The professor must have met a bunch of movie actors when he was over here. If the American men make more money than other men to spend on their wives that's American luck. I think the right kind of an American is the strongest character in the world."

"I cannot agree with Prof. Einstein," said Mrs. Jacob Bauer, suffragist. "Women have the vote and men are women's equals. Einstein is a theorist. Time will prove this assertion."

"Very, very bad," said Mrs. A. A. Michelson, wife of Prof. Michelson, eminent scientist of the University of Chicago, himself an authority on the Einstein theory. "Prof. Einstein could not form an opinion of Chicago women from the women he saw in hotel lobbies. Perhaps the women he saw in hotels here, all dressed up, and with badly brought up children, deserve to be characterised as followers of fads."

The domination of women over men in America is not a national failing but a world wide one, believes William Wrigley, Jr., chewing gum and baseball magnate. It is just as true in Germany as it is here.

"Yes, Einstein's right on the women and I'm proud of the fact," he said. "Aren't the women behind everything man does? Maybe not openly, but they're there just the same. What else can a man do with his money but spend it on his wife?"

Only one professor was emphatic in discussing Prof. Einstein. Prof. W. P. Evans of the Chemistry Department of Northwestern University said: "It seems incredible that a man of Dr. Einstein's attainments should make the statements credited to him. If these statements are correct they go far to prove the fact that, although he understands thoroughly, we hope (don't forget to put in the 'we hope') the theory of relativity, he hasn't the essential qualities for judging the scientific and industrial achievements of a great nation."

"Dr. Einstein saw America under very unfavorable conditions," declared Prof. Milliken, of the Physics Department of the University of Chicago, who was spoken of favorably by Dr. Einstein as a "meritorious" professor, "due to the popular furor over his discoveries. I might say that he had a hectic time."

Millions In Haulage Saved By Good Roads

Canada Is Spending Large Sums In Improvement To Move Crops

Ottawa, Ont. July 9.—Good roads save farmers and rural business men millions of dollars annually by reducing the cost of haulage. The immense economic value of improved highways was set forth recently by comparative figures issued by the Government. The estimates were based on investigations by crop correspondents of the Bureau of Statistics in all parts of Canada.

Canadian roads are of four kinds—dirt roads, dirt roads improved by the addition of sand and clay, gravel roads and macadam roads. The average cost of hauling per ton mile was found to be: Dirt roads, 44 cents; improved dirt roads, 40 cents; gravel roads, 34 cents; macadam roads, 25 cents.

Canada's wheat crop last year deduced to terms of avoirdupois totalled 5,798,000 tons. Figuring 7.6 miles as the average distance the grain had to be hauled on country roads, the total ton mileage was 44,065,000. Saving effected by improved roads ranges from 4 to 19 cents per ton mile and amounts to $1,762,600 as between dirt roads and improved dirt roads; $4,406,300 as between dirt roads and gravel roads and $8,372,350 as between dirt roads and macadam roads.

This calculation is for the wheat crop alone. If applied to all crops and products moved over roads the annual savings would reach tremendous figures.

The Government of Canada is committed to a comprehensive good roads program. Parliament in 1919 appropriated $20,000,000 for building and improving highways in the next five years. The sum of $80,000 is payable every year to each province and the remainder of the fund is alloted to the provinces according to population.

Japan And America Acting To Protect Jews In Siberia

The recent massacres of the Jews at Urga by Baron Ungern and the reported agitation to organise further pogroms throughout Siberia created a panic in Jewish circles, culminating in a protest meeting held locally under the auspices of the Shanghai Jewish Communal Association in June last.

The Editor of Israel's Messenger, the local Zionist organ, having made an appeal to Viscount Uchida, Japan's Minister for Foreign Affairs, to give protection of life and property to the Jews in Siberia, has just received an acknowledgment of his letter through Mr. Yamasaki, the local Japanese Consul General, informing him that the Japanese Government has taken cognisance of his appeal and issued the necessary instructions to its authorities abroad to give every protection to the Jews in Siberia.

It is noteworthy that a similar step has been taken by the State Department at Washington and a statement to that effect was issued to the American Jewish Congress which made the representation to the latter.
